CHAPTER V

OPERATING REVENUES AND EXPENSES OF UTILITIES

In the year ending December 31, 1927, the operating revenues of steam railroads, electric railways, gas, electric light and power, water, telephone and telegraph companies, carriers by water, wharfingers, warehousemen, auto stage and truck operators filing annual reports with the Railroad Commission totaled $1,024,889,114.32, as compared with $1,001,170,243.26 for the year ending December 31, 1926. The increase in operating revenues amounted to $23,718,871.06. The operating expenses for the same companies during 1927 increased $24,612,414.70, being $718,441,021.99 in 1927 and $693,828,607.29 in 1926. The net operating revenues, as such term is used in the annual report forms, for the several classes of utilities aggregated $306,448,092.33 in 1927 and $307,341,635.97 in 1926, showing a loss of $893,543.64.

Steam railroads for the calendar year 1927 report operating revenues of $489,239,248.01 and operating expenses of $347,869,208.63, leaving net operating revenues of $141,370,039.38, as compared with net operating revenues of $157,666,514.15 for 1926. The operating revenues include only the earnings from transportation. The figures just stated, however, include the total operating revenues, operating expenses and net operating revenues of The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company (Pacific System), The Western Pacific Railroad Company, Nevada-California-Oregon Railway Company and Tonopah and Tidewater Railroad Company, all of which companies operate outside as well as within the State of California. Steam railroad companies operating within the State of California have allocated $183,534,319.54 of their 1927 revenues to California business while $136,450,094.29 of their operating expenses have been allocated to California.

The net operating revenues attributable to California business for 1927 are reported as $47,084,225.25, as compared with $53,417,276 for 1926. The number of passengers carried in California decreased from 43,156,341 in 1926 to 41,821,723 in 1927, while the freight tonnage assigned to California decreased from 44,799,393 in 1926 to 44,199,058 in 1927.

Electric railway companies filing reports with the Railroad Commission show for 1927 operating revenues of $58,964,373.84 as compared with $58,634,283.03 for 1926, and operating expenses of $49,355,803.72 in 1927, as compared with $48,381,640.77 for 1926, leaving net operating revenues of $9,608,570.12 and $10,252,642.26 respectively. The net operating revenues decreased $644,072.14. During 1927 electric railways carried 708,641,500 of revenue passengers, as compared with 712,569,466 during 1926. The revenue passengers decreased 3,927,966.

Water companies for 1927 report operating revenues of $19,684,017.75, as compared with $19,292,170.54 for 1926. The net operating revenues of such companies for 1927 are reported at $8,279,516.75, while during 1926 water companies had net operating revenues of $7,893,577.29. Water companies report 531,071 consumers for 1927 and 485,572 for 1926, the increase being 45,499.

The operating revenues of electric light and power companies for 1927 totaled $109,825,875.32, the operating expenses $45,509,432.94 and the net operating revenues $64,316,442.38, as compared with $101,176,751.54, $45,323,807.91 and $55,952,943.63, respectively, for 1926. The number of electric light and power consumers increased from 1,254,878 in 1926 to 1,329,050 in 1927, the increase being 74,172.

Gas companies for 1927 report operating revenues of $62,417,682.65, operating expenses of $37,664,401.81 and net operating revenues of $24,753,280.84. In 1926 this class of utility reported operating revenues of $54,447,959.10, operating expenses of $35,782,106.79 and net operating revenues of $18,665,852.31. Gas companies report an increase in number of consumers from 1,168,618 in 1926 to 1,219,168 in 1927, the increase being 50,550.

Telephone and telegraph companies filing annual reports with the Commission show operating revenues of $221,957,396.36 for 1927, which was $5,257,624.47 greater than in 1926. They report operating expenses of $168,356,310.32 for 1927, the increase amounting to $3,459,248.88. The net operating revenues for 1927 are reported at $53,601,086.04, and for 1926 at $51,802,710.45. The figures include the total revenues of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, both companies doing business outside of the state, as well as within the state. The report of the Western Union Telegraph Company shows a total revenue of $131,771,003.02, of which $8,791,971 is by that company reported as "Operating Revenues and Receipts, State of California." The report of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company shows total operating revenues of $59,748,120.72, of which $42,077,092 is by it allocated to California. The reports of these companies do not show a segregation of their operating expenses to California. The average number of working stations of telephone companies increased from 1,877,862 to 2 045,039, both figures including all the stations of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Warehouses and wharfingers report operating revenues for 1927 at $13,597,255.90, as compared with $10,219,027.60 for 1926. This class of utility reports operating expenses of $12,767,210.04 for 1927 and $9,480,281.60 for 1926, leaving net operating revenues of $830,045.86 for 1927 and $738,746 for 1926.

Carriers by water report operating revenues for 1927 at $26,125,205.25 in comparison with $26,505,613.78 for 1926. They show operating expenses of $23,424,485.73 for 1927 and $23,247,194.77 for 1926, leaving net operating revenues of $2,700,719.52 for 1927 and $3,258,419.01 for 1926.

Transportation companies (auto stage and truck operators) for 1927 report operating revenues at $23,078,059.24, as compared with $22,451,646.75 for 1926. Their operating expenses for 1927 amounted to $22,089,667.80 and $21,341,415.88 for 1926. The net operating revenues for 1927 amount to $988,391.44 and for 1926, $1,110,230.87. During 1927 stage operators carried 24,634,648 passengers; during 1926 they carried 24,319,697, the increase being 314,951; while truck operators report 1 740,081 tons of freight carried during 1927 and 1,231,176 tons during 1926, the increase being 508,905.

In the case of steam and electric railways, gas and electric companies, telephone and telegraph companies and carriers by water, taxes are not included in operating expenses and are therefore a deduction from their net operating revenue. The other classes of utilities include taxes in operating expenses. Tables following show the taxes of each utility. For the former group, taxes appear in the income account statements; for the latter, under operating expenses.

Table No. 12, following, contains a summary of the operating revenues, operating expenses and net operating revenues of public utilities reporting to the Railroad Commission for 1926 and 1927. Table No. 13 shows the net operating revenues of public utilities filing reports with the Commission during the same period; Table No. 14, the net cost of fixed capital installed by certain California public utilities, as shown in annual reports filed with the Railroad Commission from 1913 to 1927, inclusive; Table No. 15, the net cost of fixed capital installed by steam railroads during 1927; Table No. 16, the net cost of fixed capital installed by electric railways during 1927; Table No. 17, the net cost of fixed capital installed by electric light and power companies during 1927; Table No. 18, the net cost of fixed capital installed by gas companies during 1927; Table No. 19, the net cost of fixed capital installed by telephone and telegraph companies during 1927, and Table No. 20, the net cost of fixed capital installed by water companies during 1927.

Chapter VI

RATE DEPARTMENT—TRANSPORTATION BY RAILROADS, VESSELS, AIRPLANES, AUTOMOBILE STAGE AND AUTOMOBILE TRUCK LINES, STORAGE (INCLUDING COLD STORAGE) AND WHARFAGE

There has been a marked increase in the activities of this department for the fiscal year just concluded. Not only was there an unusually large number of matters involving rates and fares within California, but the department has been called upon to participate in proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission where there was a meritorious complaint and the interests of the California shipper would be furthered by so doing.

The work of this department naturally falls into four groups: First, that in connection with formal proceedings before the Commission; second, the handling of informal complaints and applications; third, the filing of tariffs containing the rates, rules and regulations covering the transportation of persons and property by all common carriers, including airplane lines, and those covering the storage and handling of goods; and, fourth, the participation in cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

During the fiscal year this department participated in 111 formal proceedings before this Commission, handled 1730 informal complaints and applications; received, checked and filed in excess of 15,000 tariffs and supplements; and participated in four proceedings before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The formal rate proceedings before this Commission covered freight rates on grain and grain products, petroleum and petroleum products, fertilizer, dried and fresh fruits, vinegar, live stock, rubber tires, brick, sulphuric acid, clay, crushed rock, sand and gravel, lumber and numerous other commodities; passenger fares on the street railway lines in Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Stockton and San Jose; certificates of public convenience and necessity to operate on the inland waters of the state; and applications from common carriers and warehouses to readjust their rates, rules and regulations.

The following tables enumerate the formal rate decisions rendered by the Commission in applications and cases during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928:

Case No. 2445. Pan American Petroleum Company vs. Pacific Electric Railway Company. Rate of 4 cents per 100 pounds charged on three carloads of petroleum gas oil shipped from Watson to Los Angeles during July, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded 3 cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2448. Gladding, McBean and Company vs. Southern Pacific Company. Rate of 42½ cents per 100 pounds charged on one carload of enameled and wire cut brick shipped from Los Angeles to Fresno during February, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded 32 cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2457. Modesto Packing Company vs. Modesto and Empire Traction Company et al. Rate of $34 per car charged on five carloads of cattle shipped from Merced to Modesto during April, May and October, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded $25 per car. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2522. American Potash and Chemical Company vs. Trona Railway Company. Rate of 34 cents per 100 pounds charged on numerous carloads of sulphuric acid shipped from Searles to Trona during the period from February 8, 1927, to March 9, 1928, inclusive, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded 9 cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2531. Pomona Tile Manufacturing Company vs. Southern Pacific Company. Rate of 32 cents per 100 pounds charged on seventeen carloads of clay shipped between February 16, 1926, and September 22, 1927, from Lincoln and Ione to Pomona, found unjustly discriminatory to the extent it exceeded the combination rate of 28½ cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2535. Union Oil Company vs. Southern Pacific Company et al. Applicable rates of 10 cents per 100 pounds on asphalt and 9½ cents per 100 pounds on road oil from Oleum to Petaluma found unreasonable to the extent they exceeded rate of 7 cents per 100 pounds on each commodity. Reparation awarded on seven carloads of asphalt and one carload of road oil.

Case No. 2542. Hollywood Granite Company vs. Pacific Electric Railway Company. Rate of 6 cents per 100 pounds, minimum weight 100,000 pounds, charged on one carload of bittern water shipped during July, 1926, from Home Junction to Bergamot, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded $15 per car. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2458. Charles Nelson Company et al. vs. Arcata and Mad River Railroad et al. Combination rates of $1.25 per thousand feet plus 22½ cents per 100 pounds charged on numerous carloads of lumber shipped from Korbel to Sausalito, Mill Valley and other points on the southern division of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad during the period from May 21, 1925, to June 23, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent they exceeded the subsequently established joint rate of 22½ cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2459. Essex Lumber Company vs. Yosemite Valley Railroad Company et al. Rates of 21 cents and 19 cents per 100 pounds charged on ninety-six carloads of cedar pencil slabs shipped from Merced Falls to Sacramento during the period December 15, 1925, to April 20, 1927, found unreasonable to the extent they exceeded a rate of 17½ cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2468. Shell Company of California vs. Southern Pacific Company et al. Rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds charged on two carloads of fuel oil shipped during June and October, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded 17½ cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2473. California-Hawaiian Milling Company vs. Southern Pacific Company et al. Refusal of the defendants to establish milling in transit privileges on alfalfa hay at San Francisco while providing for the storage in transit of alfalfa meal found not prejudicial to complainant. Complaint dismissed.

Case No. 2494. California Cattlemen's Association et al. vs. Minarets and Western Railway et al. Rates on cattle and sheep from North Fork to San Francisco, Sacramento and other consuming points found not unreasonable or unjustly discriminatory. Complaint dismissed.

Case No. 2498. P. B. Engh vs. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway et al. Rate of $1.58½ per 100 pounds charged on two carloads of structural steel shipped June 16, 1923, from Blythe to Tarke, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded $1.11 per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

Case No. 2503. California Petroleum Corporation vs. Southern Pacific Company. Rate of 38½ cents per 100 pounds charged on seventeen carloads of gasoline shipped from Thenard to Oakland during February and March, 1926, found unreasonable to the extent it exceeded 36 cents per 100 pounds. Reparation awarded.

OTHER FORMAL PROCEEDINGS

Grain and Grain Products.

In our previous reports we have recited the Commission's activities in connection with the adjustment of rates on grain and grain products. During the last year the Commission in two important proceedings made a further readjustment of rates on grain, flour, and other products of grain upon complaints filed by the milling interests.

In the first case a readjustment of the rates from all grain producing points in northern California to all points in central and southern California was sought by complainant. It developed that the rates on grain and flour from Cole, Redding, Durham, Marysville and related points to Fresno, Watsonville and points south thereof were out of line with interstate rates on these commodities for equidistant haul, and furthermore, were not established on any consistent basis. We prescribed rates from and to the important points which are considerably lower than those previously in effect.

The second case involved rates on grain, prepared feeds, and other grain products between Oakland and points on the east side of the Southern Pacific Company's line in the San Joaquin Valley. The question considered by the Commission was whether or not the rates were unduly prejudicial and discriminatory to Oakland and unduly preferential to South Vallejo. It developed that the rates from and to the latter point were lower than those to the former point and this situation resulted in undue preference to South Vallejo and undue prejudice and discrimination to Oakland. The Southern Pacific Company was ordered to remove the discrimination by establishing rates between Oakland on the one hand, and on the other hand points south of Lathrop and Stockton via Merced to and including Lerdo that would not exceed the rates contemporaneously in effect from South Vallejo.

Lumber.

The Commission was called upon to adjust the rates on box and crate material, following a complaint filed by shippers in Sacramento alleging that the rates on these commodities from Sacramento to numerous points in the San Joaquin Valley and southern California were unjust, prejudicial and discriminatory when compared with the rates from San Francisco, Vallejo Junction, Port Costa and other points on San Francisco Bay. The Commission found the rates to be unreasonable, discriminatory and prejudicial to Sacramento and prescribed rates resulting in substantial reductions and placing the Sacramento shippers on a rate parity with shippers located at points on San Francisco Bay.

Rock Rates.

A proceeding of great importance involving the rates on crushed rock, sand and gravel in southern California in the entire territory south of Santa Margarita and Caliente is now before the Commission. The counties of Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside and the Union Rock Company are seeking a material reduction in the present rates amounting to over $500,000 per year in freight charges. Numerous hearings have been held at Los Angeles, and the matter now stands submitted to the Commission.

In two other proceedings the Commission found that the rates on crushed rock, sand and gravel from Dwight to Matheson and from various points on The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway and Southern Pacific to points on the Sunset Railway were unreasonable and ordered the carriers to establish reasonable rates and pay reparation to complainants.

Statute of Limitations.

For a number of years the Commission has accepted informal complaints as sufficient to comprise a complaint within the meaning of section 71 of the Public Utilities Act and thus stay the running of the two-year statutory period covering claims for reparation. In a recent proceeding involving reparation on thirty-seven carloads of canned goods moving from Los Angeles to San Pedro, in which the formal complaint was not filed within two years from the time the freight charges were paid, the railroads contended that the Commission was without power to award reparation. The Commission, however, did not subscribe to this view and ordered the carrier to refund all charges collected in excess of the rate found reasonable.

Switching Charges.

One of the most important proceedings disposed of during the last fiscal year was the so-called Junction Point Switching Case. The rail carriers issued tariffs containing certain amended items, which if allowed to become effective would have permitted the carriers to assess, in addition to the line haul rate, a switching charge of $2.70 per car on carload freight originating at or destined to interchange points and switched by a carrier other than the line haul carrier, notwithstanding the fact that there was a joint rate on the same commodity from a point beyond and of the same volume as that from the interchange point. Before the effective date of the proposed items the tariffs were suspended by the Commission and an investigation instituted to determine if the charges were justified.

The carriers contended that there was an entirely different service performed in handling a shipment originating at the interchange point when switched to the tracks of the road haul carrier than that performed in connection with a shipment moving through the interchange point from a point beyond and they were therefore justified in assessing the switching charge of $2.70 per car. Hearings were held and a vast amount of testimony was given by the interested parties. In a decision rendered July 26, 1926, and affirmed on rehearing by our order of April 2, 1928, the Commission held that the proposed amendments had not been justified and ordered the suspended tariffs canceled.

Through Routes and Joint Rates.

Following extensive hearings at San Francisco the Commission ordered the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to join with the Western Pacific in the establishment of a through route and joint rates for the transportation of lumber from the mills located in the Feather River Canyon district on the Western Pacific Railroad to the consuming points on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The Commission in this proceeding found that the lumber shippers on the Western Pacific were at a decided disadvantage in marketing their products in the Northwestern Pacific territory both by reason of the lack of a through route and the volume of the freight rates. The adjustment placed Western Pacific mills on a rate parity with competing shippers located on the Southern Pacific.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

In our previous annual reports we have referred to the general investigations being conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission on agricultural products and other basic commodities, pursuant to a joint resolution approved by Congress January 30, 1925, and commonly referred to as the Hoch-Smith Resolution. During the fiscal year 1926–1927 the Interstate Commerce Commission denied the petition of the western rail carriers for a 5 per cent increase in all freight rates and held hearings in California with respect to the rates on cotton, cottonseed and its products and live stock. The Rate Department actively participated in all of these proceedings. The present fiscal year has been devoted principally to the preparation for the California hearings involving the grain rate structure in the entire western district, which will be held jointly with this Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission at Los Angeles commencing August 15, 1928, and for the coming hearings with respect to rates on furniture and hay.

In addition to the hearings conducted in response to the Hoch-Smith Resolution the department participated in proceedings before the Federal Commission relating to transcontinental class and commodity rates between California and Florida. In this proceeding the railroads endeavored to cancel all the through rates, which would have materially increased the freight charges of the California shippers, the increase in some cases amounting to 60 per cent. The Commission through its rate expert protested the proposed increases as placing an undue burden on California shippers. The Interstate Commerce Commission agreed that the increases were not justified and ordered the carriers to cancel the tariffs.

TARIFFS OF AUTO STAGE AND TRUCK LINES

After the passage of the Auto Stage and Truck Transportation Act in 1917 the Commission issued its General Order No. 51, setting forth the rules and regulations governing the construction and filing of freight and passenger tariffs. The rules therein contained were designed to meet the then existing requirements of this type of carrier. Due, however, to the rapid expansion of the auto stage and truck transportation field it became apparent that the rules and regulations in General Order No. 51 should be amplified and expanded to meet the present and future requirements of this industry. Two new general orders were compiled, superseding General Order No. 51. The new rules became effective December 1, 1927, and required the carriers to bring their tariffs into conformity with the new requirements. This has placed upon the Rate Department the task of examining and checking approximately 850 tariffs to determine those that need revision.

AIRPLANE RATES

The first airplane tariff filed with this Commission became effective June 22, 1924, and named rates between Ontario and Big Bear Lake for freight and passengers. During the year 1926 two other airplane companies commenced operations for the transportation of passengers, one between Los Angeles and San Diego and the other between Wilmington and Avalon. Five other carriers filed tariffs during the last year, hence it is apparent that the airplane is going to play an important part in the future as a common carrier. Following is a list of carriers that have filed tariffs with the Commission and the points served by these carriers:

Beacon Airways, Inc., operating a daily service between Chico, Marysville, Sacramento, San Francisco, San Jose, Del Monte, Modesto, Merced, Fresno and Visalia.

Los Angeles-San Diego Air Line, operating between Los Angeles and San Diego.

California Air Service, Inc., operating between San Francisco, Del Monte and way points.

Maddux Air Line, operating planes between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Maddux Air Line, also operating planes between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Pacific Air Transport, operating planes between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Western Air Express, operating planes between San Francisco and Los Angeles, and between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City.

Pacific Marine Airway, operating Curtiss flying boats, Wilmington to Avalon.

Chapter VII

AUTO STAGE AND TRUCK DEPARTMENT

The year covered by this report, July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1928, was marked by the issuance by the Railroad Commission of two general orders of vital importance in the matter of the regulation of auto stages and trucks operating under the jurisdiction of the Commission. One, General Order No. 81, required that all automotive passenger stage lines file reports covering serious accidents. The other, General Order No. 83, directed all automotive passenger stage lines to file new time schedules showing operations within the limit of speed prescribed by the California Vehicle Act. Of equal importance was an informal order issued by the Commission directing all auto stage and truck lines to comply with the law in the matter of the issuance of free or reduced transportation.

The Commission's order requiring the filing of accident reports was issued following a formal hearing at which were present representatives of all the large stage lines operating between fixed points or over a regular route, as well as representatives of rail lines, whose activities included motor bus operations under certificates of public convenience and necessity granted by the Commission. The Commission's order requiring accident reports reads as follows:

1. Reports by Telegraph and Telephone.

The owner or operator of any automotive passenger stage involved in any accident resulting in death or serious injury to any person or persons shall immediately notify the Railroad Commission by telegraph or telephone and provide the following information: The date, time, place and nature of the accident; the number of persons killed or seriously injured. Notice shall be given to the Railroad Commission sufficiently in advance of the time and place of any investigation or hearing, if any is held, at which testimony or statements of employees or witnesses will be taken, to enable the Commission, or its authorized employees, to attend.

2. Written Reports.

The owner or operator of any automotive passenger stage shall also provide the Commission with monthly reports, in writing, of all accidents in which a person or persons are killed or seriously injured; and if, in the future, it is found desirable to have monthly reports filed of other classes of accidents, the motor carriers shall file such reports upon request of this Commission.

Said reports shall be filed not later than the fifth day of the month and shall contain the following information in full for each accident reported:

1. Name of carrier operating bus or stage.
2. Date of accident and time of day or night.
3. Location of accident. At or near what town or city, county.
4. Road on which accident occurs, direction of travel and approximate distance from town or city named in 3.
5. Weather conditions and condition of road.
6. Speed of stage.
7. Estimated damage to stage.
8. Number of persons killed or injured (showing whether passenger, employee, etc.)
9. Estimated time of disability of injured.
10. Nature and causes of and circumstances attending accident.
11. Name and title of officer sending report.

Approved and dated at San Francisco, California, this twenty-third day of December, 1927.

Following issuance of the order the Commission mailed to each utility engaged in public transportation on the highways under authority of the Commission, blank forms indicating the information desired by the Commission in the event of a serious accident involving equipment operated by the utilities.

NEW TIME SCHEDULES ORDERED

No public hearing was held in connection with the issuance of the order requiring the filing of new time schedules. The Commission issued its order after giving full consideration to many informal complaints reflecting on the operating methods of the stage lines. General Order No. 83 reads as follows:

It is hereby ordered, That each and every "passenger stage corporation," as that term is defined in the Public Utilities Act of the State of California, operating any passenger stage within this state, shall file its time schedules with the Railroad Commission of the State of California, on or before March 15, 1928, regardless of the fact that it may have heretofore filed any such time schedules, and

It is hereby further ordered, That the said time schedules filed in compliance with this Order shall in no instance provide for a schedule of operation for any such passenger stage between any given terminals which will require the operation in question, or any portion of the same, to be made at a rate of speed greater at any point than the maximum speed for the point in question which is prescribed in the California Vehicle Act (Stats. 1923, p. 517, as amended). It is the intent of this Order that no passenger stage schedule shall be so constructed as to require a rate of speed at any point greater than the maximum speed prescribed for that point in said California Vehicle Act, and it is the further intent of this Order that the said schedule of any such passenger stage between any given termini shall not provide for operation of such character that the rate of speed at any point between such termini, including allowances for passenger embarcation or debarcation stops and for average traffic conditions throughout the route, shall exceed the respective maxima prescribed in said California Vehicle Act.

It is hereby ordered, That thereafter before any change in the time of arrival or departure of any such passenger stages shall be made, notice of such change shall be filed with the Railroad Commission and posted in all depots of said automotive passenger stage lines at least five (5) days prior to the effective date of said proposed new time schedule, and

It is hereby further ordered, That all such automotive passenger stages, when proposing a change in service resulting in the elimination of schedules and consequent reduction in service, shall, in a letter of transmittal to the Railroad Commission, submitting said proposed new time schedule, list the schedule or schedules proposed to be eliminated and set forth the reasons for such proposed reduction in service, shall post a copy of said proposed new time schedule in its stage depots and file said schedule with the Railroad Commission at least ten (10) days prior to the effective date of the proposed new schedule, and

It is hereby further ordered, That all such automotive passenger stage lines, whose operations are seasonal, shall at least five (5) days prior to discontinuance of said seasonal service (unless said discontinuance is forced suddenly by storm), notify the Railroad Commission of said discontinuance, and shall post in its depots notice of said proposed discontinuance, and shall, upon resumption of service, notify the Railroad Commission that service has been resumed.

It is hereby further ordered, That all such time schedules shall be printed or typed (typewritten), in duplicate, on paper of good quality (size 8 x 11 inches) and shall be filed in accordance with such requirements as to form as may from time to time be required by the Railroad Commission.

Approved and dated at San Francisco, California, this sixth day of February, 1928.

SPEED LIMITED BY LAW

That part of the California Vehicle Act regulating speed of autos on the highways on which the Commission's order is based, reads as follows, in part:

Sec. 113. (a) Any person driving a vehicle on the public highways of this state shall drive the same at a careful and prudent speed not greater than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of the highway, and no person shall drive any vehicle upon a public highway at such a speed as to endanger the life, limb or property of any person.

(b) Subject to the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section and except in those instances where a lower speed is specified in this act, it shall be lawful for the driver of a vehicle to drive the same at a speed not exceeding the following:

1. Fifteen miles an hour in traversing a grade crossing of any steam, electric or street railway when the driver's view is obstructed. A driver's view shall be deemed to be obstructed when at any time during the last one hundred feet of his approach to such crossing he does not have a clear and uninterrupted view of such railway crossing and of any traffic on such railway for a distance of four hundred feet in both directions from such crossing;

2. Fifteen miles an hour in traversing an intersection of highways when the driver's view is obstructed. A driver's view shall be deemed to be obstructed when at any time during the last one hundred feet of his approach to such intersection he does not have a clear and uninterrupted view of such intersection and of the traffic upon all of the highways entering such intersection for a distance of two hundred feet from such intersection;

3. Fifteen miles an hour in traversing or going around curves or corners of a highway when the driver's view is obstructed within a distance of two hundred feet along such highway in the direction in which he is proceeding;

4. Fifteen miles an hour when passing a school while persons are entering or leaving the grounds of such school;

5. Fifteen miles an hour in a business district as defined herein;

6. Twenty miles an hour in a residence district as defined herein;

7. Forty miles an hour under all other conditions.

A copy of the Commission's order was mailed to all city clerks, boards of supervisors and district attorneys in the state, thus conveying to the officials full knowledge as to the Commission's requirements in the matters of schedules of transportation utilities using the highways.

A check of all schedules filed by the automotive passenger stage lines in compliance with General Order No. 83 will be made by the Service Department of the Commission.

FREE OR REDUCED TRANSPORTATION

Advised from various sources that the provisions of the State Constitution and the Public Utilities Act covering the issuance of free or reduced transportation were not being observed by the auto stage lines the Commission, under date of June 20, 1927, addressed the following letter to all automotive stage lines subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission:

> This Commission is desirous of being fully informed with reference to the practice of stage companies of this state in the issuance of free or reduced rate transportation. In order that this information may be available to the Commission the following order is issued:
> You are hereby directed to file with this Commission on or before July 15, 1927, a statement, under oath, setting forth a complete list of holders of annual passes, term passes, reduced rate permits (annual or term) to whom such passes or permits have been issued by you during the year immediately preceding the date of the statement, and further showing the names of those persons to whom trip passes and trip reduced rate permits have been issued within the month preceding the date of said statement, and in each instance to designate the classification of the recipient of the pass or reduced rate permit which is believed to have warranted its issuance.

LISTS SHOW VIOLATIONS

The lists filed with the Commission in response to its order indicated an almost utter disregard by many of the automotive stage lines of the requirements of the law. Forthwith, to the offending companies, the Commission issued the following order:

The list of persons to whom you have issued free or reduced transportation forwarded by you to this Commission in response to its letter of June 22, 1927, contains the names of persons not entitled, under the law, to receive free or reduced transportation.

This is to direct that you immediately cancel such free tickets, permits, passes or reduced transportation and to hereafter restrict the issuance of free or reduced transportation, trip or term, to such persons as are entitled to receive free or reduced transportation under sections 11 and 17 of the Public Utilities Act; and, further, that you file with the Commission, immediately after such cancellation, a sworn statement that this order has been complied with, and a list of those whose free or reduced transportation has been canceled, and further, that you file with and as part of said sworn statement a list of those persons whose free or reduced transportation permits or passes have not been canceled, also a list of those to whom you issued passes or reduced rate permits on January 1, 1928. All such passes or permits must be numbered consecutively and the numbers shown in said lists. All lists must be filed with this Commission on or before January 15, 1928.

For your information and guidance we are sending you herewith a pamphlet containing sections 11 and 17 of the Public Utilities Act, which sections define those to whom carriers may issue free or reduced transportation, also sections 76 and 77 providing penalties for violation of said act, as well as a quotation from the constitution of the State of California, bearing on the same subject.

As a matter of further guidance we would advise that the law can not be construed as authorizing the issuance of free or reduced transportation to state employees or officials (other than Railroad Commission), city or county officials or employees, postmasters, mailmen, bondsmen, police, or traffic officers or wives of police or traffic officers, friends or house guests of stage line owners, judges, or wives of judges, firemen, school officers, mayors, trustees or councilmen of municipalities, hotel owners and clerks, travel bureau employees and directors, welfare workers, secretaries of organizations other than those specifically provided by law, or insurance agents or car inspectors employed by others—and many others to whom it apparently has been the practice of auto stage lines to issue free or reduced transportation.

Strict compliance with the law in the matter of free or reduced transportation will be enforced by this Commission. In this connection we wish to refer you to sections 76 and 77 of the Public Utilities Act which relate to fines and penalties for violations of any provisions of the Public Utilities Act or the constitution or other laws relating to the regulations of public utilities.

SIGHTSEEING BUSES

The legislature of 1926–27 having, by amendment to the Public Utilities Act (section 50¼), given the Commission jurisdiction over sightseeing buses, the Commission, under date of July 5, 1927, issued the following general order (No. 76) to "all automotive carriers operating sightseeing lines:"

Each automotive carrier who, on January 1, 1927, was operating, or during the calendar year 1926 had operated a seasonal service of not less than three consecutive months' duration, sightseeing buses on a continuous sightseeing trip with one terminus only, is hereby directed to file with the Railroad Commission of the State of California on or before August 1, 1927, its, or his, schedules of rates, fares, charges and classifications charged and collected by it, or him, in such service, and the time schedules and the routes over which such service is, or was, operated.

Each such automotive carrier is hereby further directed to file with this Commission on or before August 1, 1927, a statement, under oath, outlining in detail the extent, scope and nature of its, or his, sightseeing bus operations as conducted on July 1, 1927, January 1, 1927, and during the calendar year 1926.

Approved and dated at San Francisco, California, this fifth day of July, 1927.

As a result of this order nine sightseeing bus operators filed tariffs and time schedules with the Commission. Subsequently the Commission granted to several companies certificates of public convenience and necessity authorizing the establishment and operation of sightseeing services. Sightseeing service is distinct from the so-called regular automotive passenger stage service, in that sightseeing lines have but one terminal, with no service to points on the route traversed.

C. C. Tatum, Standard Auto Tours and G. G. Henderson were ordered by the Railroad Commission to cease immediately the operation of passenger stages from Los Angeles to San Diego and Tia Juana and return, until they have obtained a certificate from the Railroad Commission authorizing such service. The Commission took this action upon complaint of Golden State Auto Tours Corporation, Tanner Motor Tours and Gray Line Motor Tours, Inc., who complained that defendants were competing illegally with the complainants by operating sightseeing tours over this route.

NEW TARIFF RULES

The Commission, after public hearings, also canceled its General Order No. 51, providing rules and regulations for the construction and filing of passenger and freight tariffs by auto carriers, and issued General Order No. 79 prescribing uniform rules and regulations governing the construction and filing of passenger tariffs by auto stage companies, and General Order No. 80 prescribing such regulations for auto freight carriers. The new general orders became effective December 1, 1927.

Another general order affecting stage and truck lines was issued, effective September 27, 1927, numbered 77. It requires all utilities and transportation companies to report to the Commission all employees or officers whose salaries are $3,000 or more per annum. The order also requires that the amount of the expense accounts of such officers and employees be reported annually as well as the "total donations, subscriptions and contributions of all kinds." Payments to attorneys must also be shown.

NOT AN EXCLUSIVE RIGHT

As a measure of protection to rate-payers and to minimize a tendency towards speculating in operating rights as well as to clarify a situation created by the general assumption by holders of certificates of public convenience and necessity authorizing an automotive service between fixed points or over a regular route that the possession of such a certificate gave the holder thereof an "exclusive right" to operate between such points or over such route, the Commission directed that each order of the Commission granting or transferring a certificate shall contain the following language:

> (Owner) is hereby placed upon notice that "Operative rights" do not constitute a class of property which should be capitalized or used as an element of value in determining reasonable rates. Aside from their purely permissive aspect, they extend to the holder a full or partial monopoly of a class of business over a particular route. This monopoly feature may be changed or destroyed at any time by the state, which is not in any respect limited to the number of rights which may be given.

In addition to the above all orders of the Commission transferring an operating right for an automotive service contain the following provision:

> The consideration to be paid for the property herein authorized to be transferred shall never be urged before this Commission or any other rate fixing body as a measure of value of said property for rate fixing, or any purpose other than the transfer herein authorized.

OPERATORS MUST BE QUALIFIED

As a further step in insuring that operators of truck and stage lines are qualified to enter into the common carrier field, the Commission now requires that all purchasers of operating rights show, through means indicated by a questionnaire, their fitness to perform the public service required under the operating right they propose to acquire. Following is the form of the questionnaire addressed to the applicant:

In connection with your Application No. ____ for an order of the Commission approving the sale and transfer to you of an operating right for an automotive service, and the assuming by you, under said right, of the duties of a common carrier on the highways between fixed points or over a regular route for compensation, the Commission would like to be advised as follows:

1. What is your financial ability to meet demands upon you for such equipment as may be necessary properly to serve the shipping or traveling public? (Your statement in answer to this query should be accompanied by letters from bankers, merchants, civic organizations or individuals qualified to certify as to your financial ability or general fitness.)
2. Are you a property owner? If so, list properties and give value.
3. What experience, if any, have you had in the transportation field? Give full details.

Action on your application will be deferred until the desired information is forwarded to the Commission. Use the enclosed form.

FILING FEES REFUNDED

The Commission, in August, 1927, refunded the $50 filing fees paid by 501 applicants for certificates of public convenience and necessity to operate auto truck lines, and who were subsequently held to be not subject to the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission. These applicants were known as radial, or private contract carriers. The amounts refunded aggregated $25,050.

The class of applications dismissed by the Railroad Commission for want of jurisdiction under authority of the "Ben Moore" decision, No. 15818 of the Railroad Commission, were those who proposed to operate within a radius of a given number of miles from a given point, or not over a regular route, or between fixed termini. The Commission held in the Ben Moore decision that it had no jurisdiction over such applicants, and dismissed the applications without prejudice. The United States Supreme Court held in the case of Frost and Frost versus the Railroad Commission that the Commission had no jurisdiction over private contract motor carriers.

There being no provision under the law for returning the filing fees of $50 to applicants over whom the Commission had no jurisdiction, the Railroad Commission was instrumental in having an act passed by the last legislature, which was signed by Governor C. C. Young, authorizing the return of this money. The refund of these fees was under the authority of this statute (Chapter 297, Statutes of 1927).

STAGE LINE INVESTIGATIONS

The Commission, on its own motion, instituted several investigations into the operations of auto stage lines. Important among these was Case No. 2442, an investigation into the operation of auto stage service between San Francisco and the California-Oregon state line north of Cole, by Pickwick Stages System, for the purpose of determining whether the practices and operations of that corporation are illegal or unlawful. The Commission found that the respondent had, without obtaining proper authority, changed its routing. The Commission's order in the proceeding revoked, because of wilful violation of its order, the operating right authorizing service by Pickwick between San Francisco and the Oregon state line.

The Commission, after investigation and public hearings of various applications and proceedings on the Commission's own motion relating to the operation of auto stage service between Los Angeles, Universal City and Burbank, found:

1. That John B. and C. Auld abandoned the automotive service authorized to be performed by them by Decision No. 17191 and that the operating right granted by said decision should be revoked and annulled.

2. That there was no abandonment of service by John B. Auld between Hollywood and Burbank, as authorized by Decision No. 16993 and that, therefore, Case No. 2436 should be dismissed.

3. That the application of Robert Bromberg, receiver in bankruptcy of the estate of John B. Auld, to sell, and Original Stage Line, Inc., to purchase operating right heretofore granted to John B. Auld should be granted and the operation of the line by Receiver Bromberg pending bankruptcy proceedings approved.

4. That the application of Original Stage Line, Inc., as amended, for a certificate to operate automotive passenger and express service between Hollywood and Burbank as to the alternate route should be granted, the service to be limited to the transportation of passengers only.

5. That the application of Pasadena-Ocean Park Stage Line, Inc., for authority to extend its service between Culver City and Universal City to Burbank should be denied.

The Commission's investigation into the operation of auto stage service by C. F. Haguewood and T. H. Adams, copartners, for the purpose of determining if such operations were illegal in any manner was dismissed. The defendants disposed of their operating right and the operations by the new owner proved satisfactory.

The investigation into the alleged operation by Jack Hirons of auto truck service between Fresno and Lemoore, and between Fresno and Hanford, after being ordered by the Commission to discontinue such service, resulted in an order to Hirons to discontinue operations which he had determined were not in violation of either the law or the Commission's original order.

Investigations were also made into the operations of Sequoia and General Grant National Parks Company, operator of an auto passenger stage sightseeing service from Visalia to Giant Forest Lodge and return, and operations of California Transit Co. between Napa and Vallejo. No decision has as yet been issued in these two matters.

OUTSTANDING DECISIONS

Among the outstanding decisions of the year covered by this report was a decision on an application by Pickwick Stages System in which the Commission laid down clearly the principle that it will not permit a corporaton, owning all the stock of a public utility under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, to exact a profit at the expense of the public utility, and to capitalize such profit in securities issued by authority of the Railroad Commission.

The Commission took this action in a supplemental order on the application of Pickwick Stages System for authority to use the proceeds from the sale of $34,900 of stock, and $31,350 of the proceeds from the sale of certificates, issued by Pickwick Stages System for the purpose of financing the acquisition of four 27-passenger intercity type stages costing $54,000, and one 26-passenger intercity stage costing $12,500, or a total of $66,500.

The Commission pointed out in its opinion that these stages were constructed by the Pickwick Corporation, a company which owns all of the outstanding stock of Pickwick Stages System, the operating utility. It was brought out at the hearing of the application before the Commission that the cost of the equipment in question was $57,589.69, and that the Pickwick Corporation proposed to charge a profit on the equipment, constructed for its own use, in the amount of $8,910.31. In passing upon the application the Commission said:

> We do not look with favor on the practice of permitting a construction company to profit at the expense of a public utility when the construction company controls the public utility or is owned or controlled by the same interests which own or control the utility.

OPERATION UNDER CONTRACT

As an aftermath of the U. S. Supreme Court decision declaring that the Railroad Commission had no jurisdiction over private contract carriers, Coronado Transfer, Pacific Transfer, Van and Truck Company, Oppenheimer Truck Line, and Tia Juana Express filed a complaint with the Railroad Commission against United Parcel Service of San Diego, alleging that defendant company, without authority from the Railroad Commission, had been transporting parcels between San Diego and points in San Diego County. The complainants attempted to show that defendant carrier, while alleging to be a private contract carrier, and not subject to regulation of the Railroad Commission, had accepted an unlimited number of contracts and had virtually assumed the character of a common carrier. In dismissing the complaint for lack of jurisdiction the Commission made the following declaration:

> The evidence shows that United Parcel Service of San Diego was incorporated "to conduct and carry on the business of a private carrier * * * but only for and under contract with parties whom it may voluntarily select; providing that * * * this corporation shall not have the power and shall not engage in the business of a common carrier." From the inception of the business defendant has reserved and exercised the right of selection in respect to the shippers served, but, generally speaking, it appears willing to enter into a contract with any individual or firm handling a class of business which may appear desirable.
> To impress upon one the character of common carrier it must be shown that he "holds himself out as such to the world; that he undertakes generally and for all persons indifferently to carry goods and deliver them for hire; and that his public profession of his employment be such that if he refuses, without some just ground, to carry goods for anyone, in the course of his employment and for a reasonable and customary price, he will be liable to an action."

The Commission also dismissed, for lack of jurisdiction, the complaint filed by Charles A. Hare, Nick Gombos and William H. Neill against Thomas Gilboy, operating Ajax Transfer, alleging that he was operating illegally as a common carrier. The Commission found that defendant was not operating as a common carrier and did not hold himself out to serve the public generally, but was serving a limited number of theatres under verbal contract and rendering service of a confidential nature.

CERTIFICATE IS REVOKED

Walter Willhour and Willhour Truck Company were directed by the Railroad Commission to cease immediately the illegal operation of an auto trucking service between Los Angeles and Los Angeles Harbor, on the one hand, and Bakersfield and Taft, on the other hand, over the Ridge Route and via Lancaster and Mojave. This action was taken by the Commission after hearing of the complaint of Bakersfield and Los Angeles Fast Freight Company and Los Angeles and West Side Transportation Company against defendants, alleging illegal competition. The Commission also revoked and annulled the certificate previously granted to defendant Willhour to operate auto truck service for the transportation of cotton and cotton products and cotton gin supplies between Bakersfield and other points in Kern County and Los Angeles and Los Angeles Harbor because of unlawful extension of said right.

WILL NOT CONDONE VIOLATIONS OF LAW

Wilful violation of the Auto Stage and Truck Transportation Act will not be rewarded by a grant to the violator of a certificate of public convenience and necessity when, in the course of time, he determines that compliance with the law is the best policy to pursue. The Commission so declared in its Decision No. 19781 issued on the application of J. W. Ritzman for a certificate to operate between Los Angeles and points in Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial counties. Evidence at the public hearing on the application developed that Ritzman was of this type, and the Commission, in denying his application, said that it was convinced that

* * * There is a sufficient showing that the applicant has for several years conducted a general transportation business as a common carrier for compensation, between fixed termini or over a regular route, in wilful violation of the Auto Stage and Truck Transportation Act. To characterize his service as that of a contract or private carrier is a mere pretense.

The Commission has frequently refused to grant a certificate of public convenience and necessity to an applicant who has wilfully operated as a common carrier for compensation without having first obtained a certificate from this Commission. We are of the opinion that, under the showing of protestants that this applicant has continuously operated in violation of law, we would not be justified in granting to him a certificate of public convenience and necessity, and find, therefore, that public convenience and necessity does not require his proposed operation.

MUNICIPAL BUS LINE

Ending a vigorously contested three-cornered controversy for the right to conduct auto stage service between Los Angeles, Culver City and Venice (now annexed to the city of Los Angeles) the Commission granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity to Pickwick Stages System to operate passenger stage service between the end of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation's Washington street car line at the intersection of Rimpau avenue and Washington boulevard in the city of Los Angeles and Eighteenth avenue and Pacific boulevard in the city of Venice, serving intermediate points. Pacific Electric Railway and Community Bus Lines also were applicants for similar certificates. The certificate was subsequently revoked, Pickwick Stages System failing to start the service within the time limit, because of the establishment by the municipality of Culver City of a bus line in the territory proposed to be served by Pickwick. Municipal operation of bus lines is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

EXTENSIVE CERTIFICATE

What is probably the most extensive operation by a trucking company ever authorized by the Railroad Commission was certificated by the Commission in its Decision No. 19651 issued on Application No. 12258 which granted to E. L. McConnel of San Luis Obispo the right to extend his existing motor freight service to include points between San Luis Obispo, north to Gilroy, south to Santa Barbara, east to Fresno, and Bakersfield territory, tributary thereto, for the transaction of on call service for the handling of shipments of 5000 pounds minimum weight, over 52 separate routes in the territory embraced. He was also granted a certificate to operate auto truck service as a common carrier, and as an extension of his present service over the following routes: Between Ontario and Avila; from Arroyo Grande to Los Berros, returning to the Coast Highway at Nipomo, and vice versa; from Los Osos-Morro Junction to Morro and Bayview, returning to the Coast Highway at Morro, and vice versa; from Pismo to Grover and Oceano, returning to the Coast Highway at Arroyo Grande, and vice versa; from Santa Maria to Betteravia and Guadalupe, returning to the Coast route at Nipomo, and vice versa; and between Harris and Lompoc. The Commission also authorized the applicant to consolidate and unify his operations under the fictitious name of Valley and Coast Transit Company, as one unified system.

RICH VALLEY "OPENED UP"

Giving the so-called Owens Valley territory direct stage connection with transportation centers, thus "opening up" a potentially rich district, the Commission granted to California Transit Company a certificate to extend its stage line operations from Mojave, a point on its San Francisco-Los Angeles route, to Lone Pine. The Company was also authorized to acquire, and add to its Mojave-Lone Pine line a service between Lone Pine and Bishop, thus making possible direct automotive passenger stage service between Los Angeles and San Francisco, Sacramento and Stockton and Oakland and Bishop, the largest city in the Owens Valley district. A year-round service will be given. The only auto stage service heretofore operating into the valley was of a seasonal nature, operated mainly as an aid to resort owners.

"WILDCAT" OPERATORS

The operations of so-called "outlaw" or "wildcat" carriers were made the subject of an attack by authorized carriers through the medium of a complaint filed with the Commission by California Transit Company. The "outlaws," according to the legal carrier's complaint, were engaged in the business of transporting passengers as common carriers for compensation between San Francisco and Oakland on the one hand and all points in the state for which passengers could be obtained, on the other hand, exacting payment for the service on an individual fare basis. Among the defendants were the Auto Tours Continental Club, Auto Tourist Cooperative Club, Pacific Auto Travel Club, National Auto Travel Club and some fifteen individuals.

From the testimony at the hearing on the complaint it was developed that A. H. Wycoff, one of the defendants (all operating alike), operated under the fictitious name of Auto Tourist Cooperative Club. He did not own nor did he have any interest in the automobiles used to transport members, and he had no control over the drivers nor the fares. In the conduct of the club advertisements were placed in the newspapers to attract persons who contemplated automobile trips and arrangements were made with owners of cars who were seeking to transport passengers to destinations in the State of California and to outside points. A fee of $1.50 was exacted from all prospective passengers and from the owners or operators of the automobiles in which the passengers were transported. This fee entitled the purchaser to a certificate of membership in the Auto Tourist Cooperative Club, the certificate being good for a period of thirty days from its date of issuance. The fee as paid for the certificate of membership did not cover any portion of the transportation charge but was collected as his compensation for bringing the prospective passengers and car operator together. If satisfactory arrangements were not made between the passenger and the car operator the fee, upon request, was refunded. Car operators were charged the same fee for membership certificates as were prospective passengers, and were given similar certificates good for a period of thirty days from the date of issuance. According to the evidence presented by the complaining carrier the "wild-catters" had informed their investigator that they made several trips a week, the total number of passengers by reason of the numerous trips being sufficiently large to justify the legal carrier's contention that the methods of the illegal operation had seriously injured its business and was detrimental to the public and to the public service offered and furnished by complainant.

ORDERED TO CEASE OPERATING

Reviewing the testimony the Commission, in its Decision (No. 19344), declared:

> It is obvious that the practice of selling membership tickets in the travel clubs constitutes a violation by certain of the defendants of section 79 of the Public Utilities Act in that aid and assistance is thereby rendered other defendants unlawfully operating automobile stages as common carriers of passengers between fixed termini or over regular routes, for compensation, over the public highways of the State of California in violation of the provisions of section No. 50¼ of the Public Utilities Act.

The order of the Commission directed against such of the defendants as were involved by the testimony as actual operators of the automobiles to immediately discontinue their operations and not to resume the service until they had secured a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Railroad Commission authorizing the service.

As to the "clubs" the Commission's order directed that they immediately

> Cease and desist from aiding or abetting in the violation of the provisions of section 50¼ of the Public Utilities Act by the sale of membership certificates in the * * * club or in any other manner in violation of said Public Utilities Act.

LAW OFFICERS NOTIFIED

That the law enforcement officers of the communities affected by the activities of the "wild-catters" would be fully advised was assured by a further order of the Commission directing that a certified copy of the Commission's order be served upon > district attorneys of the counties of Alameda, San Joaquin, Fresno, Stanislaus, Madera, Merced, Tulare, Kern, Santa Clara, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, city and county of San Francisco, and the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of the city of Los Angeles.

Certified copies were also served upon the car operators found by the Commission to have been violating the law.

WIDESPREAD EVIL

Referring to the Commission's findings as to the illegality of the "Club" feature of the operations, it is interesting to note that the Interstate Commerce Commission in its report on the necessity for regulation of automoibles operated in interstate service says:

> There has grown up in some cities the practice of brokerage in interstate transportation of passengers for hire by motor carriers. A so-called auto travel agency owning no motor cars or busses will sell interstate transportation between certain points and then place the passenger in a motor car or bus owned by the driver who is answerable to no regulatory body for the proper conduct of his business. For this service the auto travel agency deducts a certain percentage from the fare paid by the passenger as a commission and the owner of the car receives the balance.

> Transportation of this character is the source of complaints by passengers using such service. It is a practice that tends to disrupt the service and business of regular bus lines, and is not conducive to giving the traveling public safe, adequate, and regular service. It should be prohibited.

That the defendants in the proceeding before this Commission also transported passengers to points without California was evident, but as interstate operation is not subject to the jurisdiction of this Commission the matter was considered only on an intrastate basis.

RAIL LINES SEEK CERTIFICATES

Advent of the Southern Pacific Company, a rail carrier, into the automotive transportation field, was indicated by a number of applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity to operate auto stage lines filed by the Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company, a subsidiary of the railroad corporation. The transport company also applied for and obtained permission to purchase several auto lines. The records of the Commission show that Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company is operating bus lines as follows:

On April 7, 1927, the Commission by decision on Application No. 13634 authorized Amy G. Harvey to transfer to T. B. Wilson an operative right for the transportation of passengers, freight and baggage by auto bus as a common carrier between Santa Cruz and Boulder Creek and certain intermediate points. Later, on June 3, 1927, the Commission by its decision on Application No. 13829 authorized T. B. Wilson to transfer to Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company the above operating rights.

The Commission by its decision dated December 23, 1927, on Application No. 14126 granted to Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company a certificate for the transportation of passengers, express and baggage between the Southern Pacific stations at Truckee and Tahoe and Tahoe City and intermediate points.

The Commission by decision dated December 23, 1927, on Application No. 14267 authorized Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company to acquire from the Estate of A. Dunham an automobile operating right for the transportation of passengers between Napa and Santa Rosa and certain intermediate points. Subsequently on May 29, 1928, the Commission by its decision on Application No. 14703 granted to Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company, as an extension of rights acquired on Application No. 14267, a certificate to serve all points intermediate to Napa and Santa Rosa.

On January 23, 1928, the Commission by its decision on Application No. 14292 authorized Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company to acquire from C. R. Stewart an automotive operating right for the transportation of passengers only between Dunsmuir and Weed and the intermediate point of Shasta.

On January 23, 1928, the Commission by decision on Application No. 14335 granted a certificate to Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company for the transportation by automobile of express and baggage between Napa and Santa Rosa and intermediate points, said express and baggage to be transported on auto passenger cars operated by the applicant between the points served under authority of the certificate acquired in Decision No. 19170 on Application No. 14267.

On June 29, 1928, the Commission by its decision on Application No. 14833 authorized Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company to acquire from George S. Jones, Inc., an automotive operating right for the transportation of passengers between Petaluma and Boyes Springs via Lakeville and Sonoma and serving as an intermediate point the community of Schellville. This is a seasonal operation conducted between April 1 and September 30 of each year.

PROPOSE BUS SUBSTITUTION

In many instances the filing of an application for a certificate to operate auto stages by Southern Pacific Motor Transport Company was coincident with the filing by Southern Pacific Company (rail line) of an application to discontinue rail service in the territory proposed to be served by its subsidiary as a bus operator. There are now pending before the Commission the following applications by the two corporations:

Application 14760—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger and express service between Crockett and Calistoga and Napa-Suisun Forks and Suisun.

Application 14758—Southern Pacific Co. to discontinue operation of trains Nos. 154 and 157 between South Vallejo and Calistoga and trains Nos. 166, 167, 170, 171, 168, 169, 172 and 173 between South Vallejo and Suisun-Fairfield.

Application 14085—Southern Pacific Co. to discontinue ferry service between Vallejo Junction and South Vallejo terminal and Georgia street wharf, Vallejo.

Application 14086—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger and express service between Southern Pacific stations at Crockett and Vallejo.

Application 14719—Southern Pacific Co. to discontinue operation of trains Nos. 91 and 92 between Tracy and Los Banos.

Application 14720—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger and express service between Tracy and Los Banos.

Application 14409—Southern Pacific Co. to abandon operation of trains Nos. 39 and 48 between Sacramento and Chico and Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate motor vehicle service in lieu thereof.

Application 14757—Southern Pacific Co. to discontinue operation of trains Nos. 93 and 94 between Exeter and Coalinga.

Application 14759—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger and express service between Exeter and Coalinga.

Application 13891—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger service between Sacramento and Colfax.

Application 14360—Southern Pacific Co. to abandon operations of local passenger trains Nos. 33, 34, 534 and 535 between Sacramento and Colfax.

Application 14843—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate motor vehicle service between Sacramento and Dunsmuir.

Application 14505—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto stages between Weed and California-Oregon state line.

Application 13775—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. to operate auto passenger service between Southern Pacific station in Santa Cruz and Monterey counties.

The following applications were dismissed on request of applicants:

Application 13918—Southern Pacific Motor Transport Co. certificate to operate auto passenger service between Ventura and Santa Paula.

Application 13919—Southern Pacific Co. to abandon passenger service between Ojai and Santa Paula.

OTHER RAIL LINES GET CERTIFICATES

During the year other rail lines obtaining certificates to operate auto service were the McCloud River Railroad, which purchased from Mrs. M. K. Davis a right to operate an auto passenger stage service between Mt. Shasta (formerly Sisson) and McCloud, and the Sierra Railway Company, which was granted a certificate to operate a truck line between Stockton and Sonora, serving intermediate points east of Oakdale, but not serving any intermediate points between Stockton and Oakdale, the route between these two points to be over the regular highway via Collegeville and Valley Home; and also between Sonora, on the one hand, and Columbia, Soulsbyville, and Tuolumne, on the other hand.

Pending before the Commission is an application by another rail line to operate an automobile service, namely, Application No. 13807 by Sacramento Northern Railway, to operate auto stage passenger and express service between Marysville and Chico and intermediate points.

Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company (Union Pacific System) was authorized to abandon passenger service on its Anaheim branch between Pico Station and the city of Anaheim, Orange County, but Union Pacific Stage Company, a subsidiary, was denied a certificate to operate a bus service in lieu of the rail service, the Commission finding that an existing stage line is ready and willing to furnish adequate service. Subsequently a rehearing was granted in this matter and the company then requested and was granted a dismissal of its application to operate the bus service.

MUST NOT SHIFT BURDEN

The Commission in two decisions on applications filed by Pickwick Stages System expressed itself as being strongly opposed to any effort on the part of a carrier to divest itself of the burdens imposed by a certificate of public convenience and necessity by means of a lease for a nominal sum of the certificate to another. In one proceeding Pickwick petitioned the Commission for authority to lease a freight operating right between Willits and Garberville to A. Harwood. Denying the application the Commission said:

> The statements in this matter by Pickwick Stages System lead to the conclusion that it desires to divest itself of the obligation to carry freight and that being the case it should apply to this Commission to abandon such service.

The second proceeding was an application to lease an operating right for an automotive service for the transportation of passengers and express between Buellton and Los Olivos. In its decision in the matter the Commission said:

> * * * It is apparent that the Pickwick Stages System seeks to lease, for the nominal rental of $1 per year, an operative right which is not now an integral part of its main transportation system, which service it has for several years rendered in a desultory way, and which obviously is financially unprofitable. From its own statements we are compelled to conclude that it desires to divest itself of its obligation to carry passengers and express over a route which has come to be merely a branch of its main transportation system, and, accordingly, we feel that it should make application to abandon such right rather than to lease the same. (See Decision No. 19412.) We are of the opinion that ordinarily the public interest will not be served by permitting a lease of an operative right when the owner obviously desires to divest himself of the burden thereof, yet seeks to preserve his certificate because of possible future value. If the public need requires that the service be continued and another is ready to render such service, his interest therein should not be limited to that of a mere lessee.

MORE THAN 500 CARRIERS

The records of the Railroad Commission show that on July 1, 1928, there were 557 auto stage and truck lines operating in California under the jurisdiction of the Commission. Of this number 85 are solely engaged in the business of transporting persons. There are 203 lines carrying passengers and property, and 269 transport only property. Of the 269 property or freight carriers, 99 are haulers designated as "special carriers," that is, carriers limited to the transportation of specified commodities, such as household goods, flour, eggs and poultry supplies, milk and cream, farm produce, films, theatrical scenery and stage necessities, fruit and vegetables, cement, lumber, newsprint paper, cotton and other commodities, the movement of which is sufficiently large in quantity to justify special equipment and service.

On July 1, 1927, there were 620 auto stage and truck lines operating under the Commission's jurisdiction. The reduction in number is due to the revocation by the Commission, for various reasons, of a large number of certificates or operating rights covering passenger and property transportation service. A number of truckmen sought and were granted leave to discontinue service on the ground that they were not operating as common carriers but were performing service for a limited number under contract.

COMPLAINTS COMPARATIVELY FEW

Improvement in the service given by the auto carriers is indicated by a digest of the informal complaints filed with the Commission involving public highway operations. During the period covered by this report 231 informal complaints involving transportation by auto were filed with the Commission, an astonishingly low number considering the amount of traffic concerned. Of these complaints, which are made by personal call at the office of the Commission, by telephone or by letter (hence the title "informal"), 59 reflected on service, 48 involved rates and 9 were claims for refunds. Twenty-six were based on loss and damage claims, 11 complained of dangerous operation and 11 complained of faulty C. O. D. collection methods. By far the largest number, 66, charged illegal competition and were directed against carriers not operating under authority of the Commission. It may be said for the authorized lines that they readily cooperated with the Commission to bring about a satisfactory adjustment of the complaints.

FIGURES ARE INTERESTING

The following statistics abstracted from the annual reports of carriers operating under the authority of the California Railroad Commission, which reports cover the calendar years ending December 31,

1926, and December 31, 1927, indicate the investment and performance of such certificated carriers for that year:

	1926	1927
Investment of Class "A" carriers (revenues exceeding $20,000 per annum)—
Plant and equipment	$19,552,613 60	$21,383,673 67

Total expenses (from all lines reporting)	$21,341,415 88	$22,089,667 80

NUMBER OF PASSENGERS CARRIED

Some interesting figures are revealed by a more detailed study of the reports filed with the Commission by the carriers operating under the authority of the Commission. In 1922 the reports filed with the Commission showed that auto stages had transported 21,221,928 persons. In 1923 the number of passengers carried totaled 29,202,073. Undoubtedly part of this great gain was due to the fact that the number of companies reporting in 1923 greatly exceeded the number reporting in 1922, and that the records kept by the carriers were maintained in better shape. At any rate it would appear that the gain in passenger traffic shown by the reports of 1924, a gain of close to half a million (460,835), and the reports of 1925 are more truly indicative of the real yearly growth of public auto stage service than the very great increase shown in 1923. The figures compiled for 1925 show a gain of 871,632 in the number of passengers carried over the number transported in 1924. The 1926 reports show 24,319,697 passengers carried. The great disparity between the number of passengers carried in 1925 and the number reported in 1926 is accounted for by the exclusion from the 1926 report of 9,656,324 passengers transported by the B. & H. Transportation Company of Long Beach. This company is no longer operating under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, the city of Long Beach having annexed the territory which the company was serving under certificates of public convenience and necessity granted by the Commission. In 1927 public auto stages carried 24,634,648 passengers.

MORE THAN 1,000,000 TONS FREIGHT

Early reports covering the amount of freight transported by authorized lines reporting to the Commission were most incomplete, few carriers keeping what could be accepted as accurate records. In 1924, certificated auto truckmen reported that they had transported 899,373 tons of freight. The reports of 1925 show 1,174,814 tons of freight transported. In 1926 a total of 1,231,176 tons was carried, and the report for 1927 shows 1,740,081 tons.

The 1925 equipment reports of the Class "A" companies show 1202 passenger cars, 1280 trucks and 584 other vehicles, the latter being principally trailers. The Class "B" companies in 1925 used 412 passenger cars, 496 trucks and 44 other vehicles, a total of 4018 pieces of equipment regularly devoted to the business of transporting persons and property over the highways, as public carriers. The 1926 reports show a total of 1655 passenger cars in use, 2055 trucks and 821 pieces of "other equipment." In 1927 the lines reported in use 1591 passenger cars, 2178 trucks and 891 pieces of other equipment. These figures do not include leased equipment. A larger percentage of the auto stage and truck operators, at time of peak demands, lease equipment to enable them to take care of the traffic. This practice is approved by the Commission, which prescribes the form of lease. It may be said that, including the leased cars, approximately 4500 cars, trucks and trailers are required to meet the demands of travelers and shippers who use the authorized public highway transportation service.

SOURCES OF REVENUE

The net operating revenue of all auto stage and truck lines reporting to the Commission in 1925 totaled $1,383,460.82, as compared with $810,635.46 in 1924, a gain of $572,825.36. The net revenue for 1926 totaled $1,110,230.89, and $988,391.44 for 1927.

The sources of revenue of the auto stage and truck lines, the reports show, with the amount collected under each account, are as follows:

Source of revenue	"A" companies	"B" companies
Passengers	$10,649,838 84	$494,003 08
Freight	7,444,559 10	1,016,544 55
Mail	192,885 83	252,555 33
Express	1,361,487 91	125,038 00
Miscellaneous	1,387,465 02	153,681 58
Totals	$21,036,236 70	$2,041,822 54

Among the principal items of expense reported by the auto stage and truck operators is gasoline. In 1924 large companies paid gasoline bills totaling $1,295,816.02. In 1925 they expended $1,448,099.45 for gas. The gasoline bills of smaller companies in 1924 totaled $365,053.06. In 1925 the small companies paid $290,625.35 for gas and oils. In 1926 the "A" companies paid $1,682,852.17 for gas and the "B" companies $326,231.12 for gas and oils. In 1927 they paid $2,336,166.91. Taxes are another important item. In 1925 "A" companies paid a grand total of $581,535.28 in taxes. In 1926 they paid $580,519.96, and in 1927 paid $788,822.74. "B" companies in 1925 paid taxes amounting to $33,044.92. In 1926 the small companies paid $59,207.98, and in 1927 they paid $97,025.57. All told the tax and license collections from the auto stages and trucks whose activities are subject to the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission amounted to $643,470.10 in 1925. The grand total in 1926 was $639,727.94. In 1927 the grand total was $885,848.31.

STATISTICS SHOW EXTENT OF TASK

The report of the Commission's docket clerk for the fiscal year 1927-28 best indicates, from a statistical standpoint, the extent of the Commission's task in regulating auto stages and trucks. Of the total of 951 formal applications filed with the Commission from July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1928, there were 244 involving auto stages and trucks. Of these 117 were applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity, 14 were for security issue authorizations and 77 requests for authority to lease or transfer operating rights. There were 9 applications to increase rates and 8 were for authority to establish rules and rates. Nineteen of the applications asked for authority to abandon or reduce service.

Of the 195 formal complaints filed with the Commission, 49 involved auto stages and trucks. Of the 1647 decisions signed by the Commission, 379 were on auto stage and truck matters. Throughout the year 291 hearings on auto stage and truck matters were held.

Chapter VIII

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

The detailed report of the Engineering Department is here presented under headings corresponding to the five divisions into which the work falls naturally. Attention may well be directed, however, to certain of the more important phases of the work.

Possibly one of the most far-reaching events of the year, as far as its immediate effect upon a large number of consumers is concerned, has been the voluntary reduction in rates by practically all of the important electric utilities in the state. These changes are of direct and immediate benefit to a large majority of the electric utility consumers in California, and while the reduction in individual monthly bills is not impressive, the aggregate saving to the public is approximately two and a half million dollars a year. It is interesting to note that these reductions in rates have been made possible, not by any material change in the cost of generation of electricity, but rather by the gradual and steady increase in the use of energy by individual consumers and the continual addition of new consumers to lines already constructed.

Possibly no less important, but of less immediate effect, are the results of the efforts that have been made by the oil companies and the utilities distributing natural gas to reduce the waste of this valuable natural resource. Through the efforts within the oil industry the production of natural gas in excess of present use has been curtailed, and through the cooperation of oil producers and utilities millions of cubic feet of gas that would otherwise have been wasted have been pumped into partially exhausted underground structures. Even at present low prices it would require 40 cents worth of fuel oil to produce manufactured gas equivalent to a thousand cubic feet of natural gas and the immense monetary value of a reduction of even a few million cubic feet a day in the waste of natural gas over a period of years is therefore readily seen.

The collapse of the St. Francis Dam has aroused statewide interest in all large dams, and requests have come to the Commission from all parts of the state for reinspection of the public utility dams over which it has jurisdiction. The engineers of the Commission have checked the plans and inspected the foundations of all dams built by public utilities since 1917, but there are many dams that were built before that time by public utilities, or that have been built by uncontrolled agencies, that have been erected without any effective inspection. Such dams, where owned by public utilities, are being inspected by representatives of this Commission, but the safety of dams over which no control is effective is a matter to which proper attention should be directed.

One activity of the Engineering Department falling outside of the scope of any of its existing divisions has been a preliminary survey of the development of the airplane as a common carrier. This work was instituted by the Commission with the thought that such information would be vitally necessary in any consideration of a future system of regulation for this rapidly growing industry. A number of lines are now in regular daily operation, carrying passengers as well as mail, in both interstate and intrastate traffic. Such service has scarcely come to be looked upon as a necessary element in our transportation system, but the day when it will assume such a position is rapidly approaching. Probably the most important feature of the regulation of this developing industry is some adequate assurance to the public that all operators shall properly provide for the safety of passengers.

FORMAL PROCEEDINGS

The outstanding formal proceeding upon which investigation was commenced this year is the application of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company for authority to increase its rates for telephone service rendered in the San Francisco and East Bay district, metropolitan area (Application No. 13795). The service in this entire district represents approximately one-third of the telephone service in California. More than 225,000 subscribers will be affected by the determination of this matter. The proceeding, in addition to bringing before the Commission for general consideration the matters of valuation of property and operating revenues and expenses in the local community, involves many important principles applicable to the determination of rates for telephone service throughout the state.

The Commission, realizing the vital importance of the proceeding and the necessity for a most complete and thorough investigation in order to insure the public full protection against any unreasonable demands, requested of the Governor and the State Department of Finance a special appropriation to carry out the necessary investigation, this because the investigation was much more extensive than would be possible under the regular appropriation to the Commission. The state authorities have made a special appropriation of $100,000 to the Commission in order that a full investigation on behalf of the public may be made.

Mr. Lester S. Ready, who, while with the Railroad Commission formerly as chief engineer, had been in charge of similar investigations of the rates in Los Angeles, was employed as consulting engineer and a special staff of engineers and accountants was employed under his supervision and direction to assist the regular staff of the Commission in making a complete and thorough investigation of the entire operations of the telephone company involved.

During the main portion of the fiscal year Mr. Ready and his staff have been actively engaged in an investigation of the value of the company's properties and the determination of reasonable operating revenues and expenses of the company in connection with the rendering of service in this district.

Chapter IX

GAS AND ELECTRIC DIVISION

A review of the work of the Gas and Electric Division for the fiscal year just ended indicates a slight increase in both the numbers of formal proceedings handled and of informal matters adjusted. All types of questions requiring formal action were represented in the division's work.

FORMAL PROCEEDINGS DECIDED

The division has reported upon seventy-one formal proceedings in which decisions were rendered as well as many other formal matters still pending. Property transfers, certificates of public convenience and necessity, rates and service inspections were embraced in this work.

The most far-reaching results obtained from the work above referred to are the reductions in rates for electric lighting and domestic service that have been placed in effect on the systems of Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Great Western Power Company, Western States Gas and Electric Company, San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, Midland Counties Public Service Corporation, San Diego Gas and Electric Corporation, California Telephone and Light Company, Napa Valley Electric Company, Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company, Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company and Vallejo Electric Light and Power Company. A liberalization of the combination domestic lighting, heating and cooking schedules of these companies will result in a great saving to the consuming public and at the same time make possible the use of many electric conveniences impracticable under the heretofore existing rates.

A trend toward the acquiring of small utilities by larger utilities referred to in last year's report has continued. Pacific Gas and Electric Company acquired, among others, the properties of Western States Gas and Electric Company, El Dorado Power Company and Coast Valleys Gas and Electric Company. Great Western Power Company acquired the properties of Quincy Electric Light and Power Company and Fairoaks Light and Power Company. Southern California Edison Company acquired the properties of Ojai Power Company and Ontario Power Company. Public Utilities California Corporation acquired Santa Cruz County Utilities Company and Capitola Company. Midway Gas Company acquired the property of Valley Natural Gas Company and stock control of Central Counties Gas Company, Hanford Gas Company and Riverbend Gas and Water Company and in turn Southern California Gas Company acquired stock control of Midway Gas Company.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company was granted authority to extend its gas service to the towns of Niles, Newark and Decoto, which will bring to those communities added conveniences hitherto not supplied.

FORMAL MATTERS PENDING

At the closing of the year there remained twenty-nine formal matters waiting decision, embracing all types of formal questions normally appearing before the Commission. Thirteen of these pending matters are involved in four major proceedings, and of the balance, three proceedings were filed within the last two months.

GAS SERVICE STANDARDS

During the last year the Commission's policy of making inspections of the quality of gas service has been continued with the usual thoroughness. Twenty-three such inspections were completed, covering service to approximately sixty per cent of the gas consumers of the state.

One of the most important elements of a high quality of gas service and in which consumers are most vitally interested is the accuracy of the meters by which their consumption is measured. Coincident with gas service inspections thirty-two meter provers were tested and certified. But one of such testing devices was found defective which speaks well for the manner in which meter testing equipment is maintained by the utility companies.

A true measure of the progress made by a utility in developing a high quality of service is had in the number of complaints filed with it by those served. The complaint record of every utility inspected during the last year has shown a marked decrease in the number of complaints per thousand consumers as compared with the previous year.

In general the gas utilities of the state have recognized the importance of a high quality of service and have made a faithful effort to comply with Commission standards.

ELECTRIC SERVICE STANDARDS

During the last year the division's engineers have devoted an increased amount of time to investigations involving the accuracy of electric meters and the adequacy of voltage conditions throughout the state, particular attention being given to agricultural installations. The cooperation of the Law and Utilities Department of the California Farm Bureau Federation has been secured in this work, and the results have proved so gratifying from both standpoints, that it is sure to be continued.

Investigation of service conditions in rural territory indicates a need of uniform electrical construction standards governing agricultural pumping installations. With this in mind, the Engineering Department has submitted to the various electric utilities a proposed set of rules and regulations governing such installations and it is hoped that standards may be made effective before the beginning of the coming agricultural season.

INFORMAL COMPLAINTS

A total of 1295 informal complaints were received by the Gas and Electric Division during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928. The character of these complaints is illustrated by the following tabulation:

	Gas	Electric	Steam	Total
Service conditions	73	134	2	209
Extensions	118	175	0	293
Excessive bills	415	293	0	708
Rates	15	69	1	85
Totals	621	671	3	1,295

Apparently the public is becoming aware of the facilities the Commission places at its disposal for handling matters of this nature, particularly as regards excessive bill complaints.

A total of $42,103.21 was deposited with the Commission pending the adjustment of disputed bills of which $34 387.05 covered one large account. The remainder of $7,716.16 represents the usual run of deposits and may be compared with last year's total of $6,654.44, showing an increase of about 15 per cent, which is not abnormal.

In addition to informal complaints handled, attention should be directed to the ever increasing number of matters requiring answer which come in by letter, telephone or personal call. These are not listed but are a definite personal service to public utility consumers. It is estimated that twenty thousand such inquiries were handled during the last twelve months.

NATURAL GAS SITUATION

A year ago attention was called to the waste of natural gas which was accompanying the intensive production of oil in southern California. While discovery of new oil fields and deeper oil sands in old fields during the last year has greatly increased the accompanying waste of natural gas, it is gratifying to note that real steps toward the conservation of this important natural resource have been taken. This conservation takes three forms, (1) curtailment of production, (2) underground storage, and (3) extension of market. The first two methods provide an increased supply of gas for future years. The third method utilizes what would otherwise be wasted. Unless northern markets are considered, there is little opportunity for further extension of market.

Consideration is now being given to the construction of a natural gas pipe line to the northern part of the state. Should this be done there is no doubt that natural gas conservation, already accomplished or reasonably in sight, is partly responsible, as a supply of gas available in the coming year, and the resulting useful life of the pipe line, are major considerations in such a venture.

GAS ADMINISTRATOR

The appointment of a gas administrator by the Commission was made effective July 1, 1927, in connection with the change from mixed to natural gas of a large part of the southern California load. The operation of this office has proven very satisfactory, resulting in economies of operation, closer coordination between the utilities, particularly as to allocation of gas, and a workable program for curtailment of surplus industrial sales during periods of gas shortage. The rendering of an adequate and uninterrupted service of natural gas to an increasing number of users will make the administration of this commodity more complicated and more important in the future.

OVERHEAD LINE CONSTRUCTION STANDARDS

Satisfactory progress has been made in the revision of General Order No. 64 covering overhead line construction standards. Since the promulgation of this order in 1922, an earnest attempt has been made to administer it so as to permit of the realization of all possible economies in construction and operation that do not detract from the primary objectives of safety and service. This policy has made necessary a careful revision of many of the existing rules and the addition of new ones and the opportunity is being taken to adopt an arrangement and typographical form that will make the order easier to use.

During the last few years the attempt has been made in certain eastern states to gain additional economy in electrical distribution by using a single neutral conductor for primary and secondary systems. This practice apparently results in some difficulties on adjacent telephone systems due to inductive interference and some question has been raised as to the actual economy in electrical distribution that may be effected under local conditions. To determine this question in a practical way, two experimental installations have been made in this state with the approval of this Commission and results are being watched by representatives of the power companies, the telephone companies and the National Electric Light Association and this Railroad Commission. Attention is drawn to these experiments not only because of the possibility of future savings coming from them but also because they are a definite indication of the spirit of cooperation prevailing among California utility corporations.

Chapter X.

HYDRAULIC DIVISION

The activities of the Hydraulic Division for the last fiscal year have been confined principally to the investigation of the operation of public utility domestic and irrigation water systems for rate-fixing purposes, transfers and inadequate services, together with the inspection of impounding dams and reservoirs.

During the year, there has been further consolidation of water properties, which has resulted in the acquisition and operation of a number of the smaller, independent water utilities by eastern holding companies specializing in utility ownership and operation. Applications for purchasing and financing other water utilities are now before the Commission for consideration which, if favorably acted upon, will result in almost all of the larger water companies in the state being owned and operated by about six corporations.

The most extensive combination of the fiscal year was made by the Public Utilities California Corporation which was given permission to acquire the water properties of the Mountain Power Company serving Crescent City, Santa Cruz County Utilities serving Boulder Creek, Ben Lomond and adjoining area, and The Capitola Company's water properties in Capitola, Santa Cruz County, and also North Sacramento Light and Water Company serving the city of North Sacramento. The Pacific Water Company was given permission to acquire the Peninsula Water Company, serving the city of San Mateo, and the South San Francisco Water Company, serving the city of South San Francisco. These two companies serve approximately 7000 consumers, and will be operated as two units by the above corporations.

Other activities of this division have been directed largely toward bettering the service of certain utilities that have failed and neglected to maintain properly their facilities in keeping with the growth of the communities which they serve, and have been unable to meet the demands made upon them. In the majority of these cases, the necessary improvements have been accomplished through informal action by this division. This has rendered unnecessary many formal proceedings before the Commission, thereby greatly reducing the delay and expense resulting when formal proceedings must be resorted to.

It is interesting to note that at the present time there are not in excess of forty public utilities engaged in the sale and distribution of water for agricultural purposes only. The decline in the number of privately-owned irrigation companies has been the result of the gradual and steady absorption of the companies by the water users themselves, mainly through the formation of irrigation districts.

FORMAL PROCEEDINGS

During the last fiscal year, the Commission has rendered 156 decisions that have involved water utilities. Of this number, there were 32 decisions rendered in proceedings that involved security issues solely. All of the above matters were investigated and reported on by this division with the exception of certain security issues which were handled entirely by the Department of Finance and Accounts or in cooperation with the Valuation Division. There were 138 formal matters involving water utilities filed with the Commission during the fiscal year requiring the attention of this division for investigation and report.

The decisions rendered by the Commission involving water utilities and classified by subject matter are set out as follows:

VALUATIONS

There were 24 valuations made by this division during the last fiscal year concerning, in general, only the smaller water utilities and totaling $3,178,609. A classification of the proceedings in which valuations were made by this division is shown as follows:

Class of proceeding	Amount
Rates	$2,073,273 00
Transfers	113,427 00
Securities	98,627 00
Transfers and securities	891,422 00

SERVICE MATTERS

Practically all of the complaints filed as formal proceedings with the Commission were directed against service methods and conditions. These matters often arise through complaints which can not be satisfactorily remedied and corrected through informal means.

An illustration of the activity of this division in connection with a complaint of service is the case of a certain irrigation utility which, on the plea of lack of funds, made no effort to replace a section of its main canal and flume, washed out by an early spring storm, with the result that the irrigation season was well on its way with no water available for its patrons. Complaint to the Commission resulted in prompt action and emergency repairs which provided sufficient water to the farmers, not only to save but to properly mature their crops.

Snow on the ground at the end of the winter season of 1927-28 was far below normal and, as a result, there has been some distress among the users of water for agricultural irrigation purposes from those systems dependent upon unregulated stream-flow. Our investigations continue to show that many communities relying upon underground water supplies for domestic uses are experiencing increasing difficulties in obtaining water in sufficient quantities, due to the steady lowering of the ground water-table. The requirements of the ever-increasing population of this state are steadily approaching the available supply of water, not only for agricultural purposes, but the point has now been reached where domestic water supplies are beginning to prove inadequate in the months of maximum demand. The serious necessity of early and comprehensive statewide water conservation and development can not be too strongly stressed.

INFORMAL PROCEEDINGS

During the last fiscal year, there were 611 informal complaints filed with the Commission involving water utilities. These complaints are classified according to subject matter as follows:

Service	335
Rates	43
Excessive bills	179
Installations and extensions	54
Total	611

During the year, there were 516 informal complaints investigated and finally adjusted. The sum of $4,132.26 was deposited by consumers of water utilities pending the adjustment by the Commission of disputed bills for water service. In addition to adjusting the various complaints set out in the above table, there was a very large amount of correspondence handled by the division in answering inquiries relative to rates, contracts, water supply and other matters connected with the regulation of water utilities.

INSPECTION OF DAMS

Engineers of this division have made inspections of several dam sites and structures now under construction, and have passed upon the design and plans of several proposed dams to determine the safety and adequacy thereof. These investigations are made in conformity with the Commission's General Order No. 50-A, which requires the submission to and approval by the Commission of the plans and designs of all public utility dams.

The following table shows the public utility dams proposed for construction or reconstruction that were investigated during the last year:

Utility	Location	Type
Feather River Power Company	Bucks Creek	Rock fill
Feather River Power Company	Bucks Creek	Concrete constant angle
Feather River Power Company	Grizzly Creek	Concrete constant angle
Feather River Power Company	Three Lakes	Rock fill
Lake Hemet Water Company	San Jacinto River	Concrete arch
Pacific Gas and Electric Company	Yuba River	Concrete constant angle
Pacific Gas and Electric Company	Mokelumne River	Rock fill
San Joaquin Light & Power Company	Kings River	Concrete arch
San Joaquin Light & Power Company	Crane Valley	Rock fill
Southern California Edison Company	Mono Creek	Concrete arch
Southern California Edison Company	Bear Creek	Concrete arch
Willits Water Company	James Creek	Concrete constant angle

The dam now under construction by Pacific Gas and Electric Company at Salt Springs on the Mokelumne River is worthy of mention as the highest rock fill dam in the world. Its height will be 340 feet and it will create a reservoir of 130,000 acre-feet capacity.

The failure of the St. Francis Dam in Los Angeles County brought a large number of inquiries from communities and individuals throughout the entire state, requesting information and investigation by the Commission's engineers as to the safety of dams owned and operated by public utilities. This situation has thrown an unusually heavy burden on the staff of this division, requiring the immediate inspection and investigation of practically all of the utility structures impounding water in sufficient quantity to endanger public safety.

RATE INCREASES DISALLOWED

During the fiscal year the Commission has denied three major water companies a rate increase and materially reduced the domestic rate on one other.

Through the informal action of the Commission, an adjustment of rates has been obtained for consumers of three other major water companies which has resulted in a reduction of rates for domestic and irrigation service.

Chapter XI

TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH DIVISION

The work of the Telephone and Telegraph Division has included investigation and reports on all matters pertinent to the service rates, rules and practices of the telephone and telegraph utilities of the State of California. The extent of this work may be better understood when it is known that there are approximately 140 utilities engaged in the telephone and telegraph business in California at the present time, many of which are comparatively small companies serving only a relatively few subscribers in outlying and sparsely settled sections, under rather unsatisfactory operating conditions. As of June 30, 1928, there were approximately 1,215,000 connected telephone stations in California, an increase of more than six per cent over the number in service at the end of the previous year.

In addition to the work relevant to formal proceedings, the Telephone Division has been able to accomplish many satisfactory results informally. Wherever it has appeared necessary or advisable, assistance has been rendered in the interest of better service to the telephone and telegraph using public and, during the last year, 64 special investigations have been made of various phases of telephone and telegraph operations and service throughout the state. Members of the division also have participated in 116 public meetings and informal conferences which have been held for the purpose of obtaining a fuller understanding of the problems of both the subscribers and the utility, through mutual discussion and the presentation of the various aspects of the issues presented.

In the past, many of the primary rate areas, in which base rates apply without the addition of mileage charges, were in the form of a circle, the radius of which extended from a given point, usually the telephone central office. The difficulties incident to the administration of such boundaries readily may be seen and recently requests have been made to the Commission for permission to rearrange many of these boundaries to more nearly conform with geographic or development conditions. A number of revisions have been made in interexchange rates reducing from ten cents to five cents the rates for certain initial periods of toll conversations. Longer hours of service have been established at a number of exchanges without additional cost to the subscribers affected. These changes, which are estimated to result in reductions in rates or increases in service, totaling nearly $20,000 per year, have been accomplished informally, and have not in any way been involved in formal proceedings.

During the last year, the work of the Telephone Division has necessitated the writing of approximately 4100 letters and the compilation and preparation of 340 reports and memoranda. For the same period, 230 special permissions or informal orders were issued authorizing the establishment or discontinuance of toll stations, exchanges, telegraph offices, or the filing of rates on less than statutory notice.

FORMAL PROCEEDINGS

During the fiscal year just past, a total of thirty-seven formal proceedings (exclusive of security issues) were filed with the Commission relevant to the operations of utilities engaged in the telephone or telegraph business in the State of California. Of this number, twenty-seven were applications originated by the companies in which requests were made for certificates of public convenience and necessity, rate increases and modifications, authority to transfer telephone properties, establish telephone exchanges, abandon service, operate a telephone line, or to make effective certain rules and regulations not theretofore in effect. Communication companies were defendants in nine formal complaints pertaining to matters of rates, service and exchange boundaries and one formal case was instituted by the Commission, on its own motion, into the reasonableness of certain toll rates.

For the same period, the Commission handed down decisions in fifty-seven formal matters (exclusive of stock and bond proceedings) in which investigations and studies had been made by members of the Telephone Division. The number and character of these proceedings are indicated in Table No. 1 following:

NOTE.—Orders extending time not included.

As will be noted, the majority of the proceedings listed in the foregoing table were in regard to rate matters, the greater part of them being in connection with applications for rate increases or modifications. It is interesting to know, however, that several of the telephone proceedings recently decided by the Commission have involved rate reductions. It is anticipated that the charges made effective under these decisions will result in savings of thousands of dollars to the users of the services of the utilities concerned. The two most interesting of these were the cases instituted by the Commission against the Kern Mutual Telephone Company and the Northern California Telephone Company.

Some time ago, the Commission instituted, on its own motion, an investigation into the rates, rules and practices of the Kern Mutual

Telephone Company, which was organized under hazardous and speculative conditions during the pioneering period of the West Side oil fields. This utility furnishes telephone service to the communities of Taft, Mariposa, Fellows and McKittrick and vicinity. It was found that the rates being collected by the company were excessive under present conditions and the Commission's decision in this matter ordered into effect exchange rates approximately 30 per cent less than those formerly charged and provided for substantial reductions in the toll rates between the exchanges of the Kern company and Bakersfield. The decision further ordered the establishment of definite service areas and set up a new schedule of rules and regulations in conformity with Commission standards. It is estimated that the reduction in rates will result in a saving of approximately $50,000 a year to the subscribers of the Kern company.

An investigation was instituted by the Commission into the reasonableness of the filing and making effective of certain tariffs by the Northern California Telephone Company. The decision in this matter authorized the refiling of certain exchange rates, rules and regulations theretofore in effect, the modification of a small number of rates, rules and regulations, together with an entire new schedule of interexchange rates constructed on the same plan as similar rates for similar service generally effective throughout California. It is believed that the interested public will be considerably benefited by the making effective of the new interexchange rates, and it is expected that an annual decrease in originating revenue of about $24,000 will be experienced by the company.

At the close of the fiscal year, ten formal proceedings involving work on the part of the Telephone and Telegraph Division were still pending before the Commission. Investigations and public hearings already have been held in a number of these, and the remainder are scheduled for early attention.

By far the most outstanding formal telephone matter before the Commission at the present time is Application No. 13795 of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company for an increase in rates for telephone service. This proceeding has necessitated a tremendous amount of work on the part of the Telephone Division, more than 50 per cent of the division's time having been spent in the investigation and study of matters relevant to this rate application during the last year. It is anticipated that this proceeding will continue to consume a great part of the time of the division until the matter is submitted.

INFORMAL COMPLAINTS

The work incident to the treatment of informal complaints is one of the most important functions of the Commission. Informal complaints, constituting as they do a barometer of the service conditions existing throughout the state, present a most favorable opportunity for acquainting the public with the work being carried on by the Commission in the interest of better service.

During the fiscal year just ended, 556 informal complaints were received relative to the operations, rates, rules and practices of telephone and telegraph utilities. This figure indicates a decrease of about one-sixth the number filed during the previous year and is only about one-seventh of the number recorded for the year ending June 30, 1924, when over 3800 informal complaints occurred in connection with the operations of communication utilities. This decrease in complaints is an indication of the degree to which telephone service conditions in general have improved throughout this state during the last few years. The total number of complaints made in connection with service in the southern part of the state during the entire last year was only 315, which may be contrasted with the 350 protests received for the single month of October, 1924, when complaints were at a peak.

Final answers or adjustments were given in 567 informal complaints during the last year. Table No. 3, following, sets forth the number of informal complaints referred to the Telephone and Telegraph Division for attention, and the number decided during the year ending June 30, 1928, segregated according to the various classes of complaints considered.

Informal Complaints

	Filed	Decided
Service	183	186
Installations and extensions	63	68
Rates	27	26
Bills	174	167
Exchange boundaries	30	31
Miscellaneous	73	81
Radio interference	6	8
	556	567

Included in the foregoing table, and particularly under the heading "Requests for Information" are a number of matters which were more in the nature of inquiries and which did not constitute definite complaints, but to which informal complaint numbers were assigned as a means of ready identification. On the other hand, approximately 300 verbal inquiries were received by telephone or in person at the Commission's office, of which no detailed record has been kept inasmuch as it was possible to furnish the answer desired or satisfy the request at the time of presentation. The majority of the complaints now being filed are in regard to service and disputed bills. The number of protests shown under the heading of "Service" do not apply to complaints of poor or out of order service, only, but include a number of informal requests for more adequate service or longer hours of operation in certain small or rural communities. The number of these complaints is encouraging when it is remembered that there are more than 1,200,000 connected telephone stations in California.

The delayed order situation, of which so much has been written in previous reports, is now a problem of the past. The 63 installation complaints indicated above, also represent requests for extensions of service to individuals and communities and requests for toll station service and, in effect, include only a very few delayed or slightly deferred installations.

Although the number of informal complaints relevant to the operations of the telephone and telegraph utilities has been rapidly decreasing during the last several years, it is a fact that the complaints now being received are increasingly difficult to handle. Many of them involve matters of fundamental principles and require careful study and consideration and, in some instances, necessitate detailed field investigations. This is particularly true of requests for changes in existing exchange boundaries and complaints calling into question certain established utility practices and policies.

Expressions of appreciation for information furnished or results accomplished in their behalf have been received by letter, telephone, or personal call at the Commission's office from more than thirty-five per cent of all of the parties whose complaints were decided during the last year.

INVESTIGATIONS

The Telephone and Telegraph Division constantly is engaged in the inspection of service and utility operations and, during the last year, 64 special investigations were made by engineers of the division in the interest of better service. These investigations, which are in addition to those occasioned by formal proceedings, have included many and varied phases of telephone operations, as well as fundamental principles of regulation, and have occurred at different points throughout the state. The greater part of this work has dealt with problems affecting a city, community or group of people, although in some instances investigations have been made on behalf of a particular individual. As a community develops, requests for better service frequently arise, bringing forward the question as to the advisability of the establishment of a new or separate exchange to serve the locality. As a greater expansion of a community occurs and it becomes more closely associated with another and perhaps more important city or town, a question sometimes arises as to the advisability of realigning existing exchange boundaries so as to permit a particular subscriber or group of subscribers to obtain local telephone exchange service from an exchange other than the one within which the party or parties in question may be located. Problems of this kind generally necessitate careful field investigations as exchange boundaries involve some of the fundamental principles of regulation and any rearrangement of such a boundary may affect a considerable number of subscribers who are not parties to a request for such change.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Engineers of the Telephone ond Telegraph Division have been active in 116 public meetings and informal conferences which have occurred at various points throughout the State of California during the last year. In general, these meetings have been held in the interest of the telephone and telegraph using public, and have afforded the public and the communication utilities opportunities of presenting their respective sides of pertinent service problems, and have supplied the Commission with authentic information as to the service conditions actually obtaining throughout the state. In addition, the people of California have been more conclusively informed of the effectiveness of the work in which this Commission constantly is engaged to the end that the most favorable service conditions may exist.

INDUCTIVE INTERFERENCE

In August, 1918, this Commission issued its General Order No. 52, which sets forth rules and regulations governing the construction and operation of power and communication circuits for the prevention and mitigation of inductive interference.

This order provides that each utility planning to build new lines or to reconstruct existing circuits, which in any way involve a parallel, shall submit to this Commission a report covering the proposed work.

As of June 30, 1928, a total of 682 inductive interference reports had been received by this Commission, 46 of this number being filed within the last year. Quite a number of revised charts, amending or supplementing previous reports, also were received.

During the last year, several studies of inductive interference of major importance have been made by this division. These have included further investigations relative to the communication circuits of the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Western Pacific Railroad Company, and the power circuits of the Great Western Power Company in the Feather River Canyon, as well as inductive interference problems at the Almanor Fill.

RATE SCHEDULE FILINGS

Effective July 1, 1923, this Commission issued its General Order No. 68, prescribing the form and regulation governing the construction and filing of rates, rules and regulations by telephone and telegraph utilities, and requiring that each such company refile its rate schedules in conformity with the provisions therein contained.

Although a great many of the utilities made the necessary refilings prior to June 30, 1927, initial filings in compliance with this general order have been received from 13 companies during the last fiscal year. Many additional and revised sheets have been submitted and, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, a total of 12,433 rate filings, involving the handling of approximately 48,000 rate sheets, were filed.

Chapter XII

TRANSPORTATION DIVISION

The work of the Transportation Division during the last fiscal year has covered a wide range of investigations and reports in connection with the operation of steam, electric, interurban and street railway systems, many of which include motor bus operations, as well as the usual grade crossing and grade separation proceedings. In addition to these studies the work has included a vast amount of investigation having to do with rail and stage accidents, changes in time tables, impaired clearances, station and track abandonments or relocation, curtailment of service and Interstate Commerce Commission proceedings, involving railroad extensions and abandonments.

FORMAL PROCEEDINGS

The Transportation Division has, during the last year, reported on 537 formal proceedings, divided as follows: Grade crossings 345, grade separations 23, grade crossing protection 11, removal of spur tracks 14, abandon or move station buildings 21, abandon or move agencies or nonagencies 34, discontinue or reduce passenger rail service 27, discontinue or reduce motor bus service 5, reroute or establish passenger rail service 4, reroute or establish motor bus service 15, rates 11, buy or sell railroad property 7, joint track agreements 7, impaired clearances 8, and discontinue or rearrange interlocking plants 5.

RATE PROCEEDINGS

During this year the division concluded its investigations in relation to the rate increases applied for by the following companies: Key System Transit Company and Southern Pacific Company, respectively, involving transbay fares and East Bay local fares; Los Angeles Railway; Pacific Electric Railway Company; Peninsular Railway (San Jose and vicinity); San Jose Railways; Stockton Electric Railway; Pacific Gas and Electric Company (Sacramento street railroad); Central California Traction Company (local lines in Sacramento); and Santa Barbara and Suburban Railway. This is the largest number of rate proceedings that has ever been concluded in any one year in the history of this division.

SERVICE PROCEEDINGS

One of the most important of the service proceedings handled during the year was the investigation into the operations, service and safety of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company, with particular reference to the interurban lines serving a portion of Marin County. This investigation was made as a result of complaints filed by Marvelous Marin, a civic organization (Case No. 2330), and by E. F. Dreger et al. (Case No. 2349), and as an investigation on the Commission's own motion (Case No. 2365).

These matters were submitted and decided during the latter part of this fiscal year. In the Commission's decision the company was ordered to renew a portion of its equipment, improve the motive power by the installation of additional substation equipment and feeder lines; renew or improve certain station buildings; more adequately protect the third rail through the built-up sections, and improve the conditions on Second street, San Rafael, and make other general improvements. The company is now proceeding to carry out these improvements in compliance with the Commission's order.

As the result of an application filed by Pacific Electric Railway Company (Application No. 13460), a thorough investigation was made of this company's operations. This study included a detailed investigation of the operating expenses and revenues of the system, segregated between the various lines and classes of service, together with a service report on each line. Many informal conferences were held with the officials of the various interested communities with particular reference to the service afforded. Helpful suggestions were carefully considered and embodied in our reports, which were introduced as exhibits in the proceeding. The Commission rendered its decision in this matter April 7, 1928 (Decision No. 19566), wherein new rates were established, which resulted in a material decrease in one way and round trip fares, and in general in increases in commutation fares. Monthly and special passes were also introduced in the fare structure. It was explained in the decision that this new fare structure was constructed upon somewhat of an experimental basis, to be carefully watched by the Commission, and if conditions appeared to justify same it would be changed by subsequent order in this proceeding.

Studies were made as to operating expenses and revenues, as well as service, in all the other rate proceedings handled during the year. These reports were introduced as exhibits in the various proceedings.

In connection with 106 decisions involving station, track, train and bus abandonments, relocation and rerouting of lines and facilities, this division made investigations and offered recommendations.

Investigations and reports recommending the granting of 232 grade crossing applications, the denial of seven and the dismissal of forty were made by this division during the year. Studies were made in connection with the issuance of twenty-eight orders granting extensions of time in which to construct grade crossings and thirty-eight supplemental orders. Table No. 1 is a segregation of all grade crossing proceedings handled.

GRADE CROSSINGS AND SEPARATIONS

During the year this division made investigations of fifteen applications for grade separations, twelve of which were granted, as listed below, one was denied and two were dismissed. Six orders granting extensions of time in which to construct separations, and two supplemental orders relating to grade separations were rendered.

Grade separations were granted at the following locations:

GENERAL ORDERS

During the year General Order No. 22, prescribing regulations for reporting accidents in train operation, was modified. A new plan of tabulating and reporting accident records similar to that employed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and other state commissions was ordered. A number of informal conferences were held between the carriers and the members of this division. This Commission, after being furnished the studies and recommendations resulting from these conferences, issued its General Order No. 22-A covering the new method of reporting accidents.

Due to the many improvements in interlocking protection, such as remote control, centralized traffc control and automatic interlocking, this Commission instituted a proceeding on its own motion in the matter of revising the rules and regulations of General Order No. 33. The division made an extensive investigation into this matter and submitted its report to the Commission. The Commission's new General Order No. 33-A was issued and became effective March 1, 1928. This revised general order will have a marked effect on interlocking, containing as it does provisions governing automatic interlocking which affords an economical means of eliminating the statutory stops at non-interlocked railroad grade crossings, thereby resulting in faster train operation; also manually controlled interlocking plants may be replaced with automatic interlocking plants, which would effect marked savings in operating expenses. Under the provisions of this revised order all interlocking plants now in service for drawbridges must have derails installed by January 1, 1930.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION PROCEEDINGS

During the year the Transportation Division has participated in proceedings conducted by this Commission for the Interstate Commerce Commission in the following matters:

Finance docket	Subject
6508	The Western Pacific Railroad Company for a certificate to construct a connection between its main line and the Alameda Belt Line and Union Belt Line in Oakland and Alameda.
6550	Northern California Railroad Company for a certificate to construct line of railroad, approximately 31 miles long, in Plumas and Lassen counties.
6633	Sacramento Northern Railroad to construct line of railroad in Solano County.

INFORMAL MATTERS

Informal Complaints.

More than 160 formal complaints were filed during the year and handled by this division. These complaints covered a wide range of subjects pertaining to transportation matters.

Following is a table showing the subjects covered. In addition to the matters shown in this table, some fifty informal complaints were handled through the Los Angeles office, but these have not been segregated.

Highway crossings and protection	41
Service and facilities	41
Safety matters (except at highways)	27
Miscellaneous	5
Total	114

Grade Crossing Surveys.

Surveys of the grade crossings in Berkeley, over the tracks of Key System Transit Company, Southern Pacific Company and The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company, have been completed and reports have been filed with the interested parties.

Grade Crossing Protection.

One of the provisions of General Order No. 75, standardizing the crossing markers, signs and protective devices, requires the carriers to install and maintain a standard crossing sign at every railroad grade crossing in this state. Applications by seven carriers were filed for permission to install the suspended crossing sign at various crossings on their respective lines in lieu of the standard crossing sign. The Transportation Division made field investigations and filed reports with the Commission covering 2165 crossings.

A study has been made of the various types of automatic crossing gates which are now being promoted. A trial installation of one type of automatic gate for the protection of the grade crossing of Alameda avenue with Southern Pacific tracks in the city of Burbank has been authorized.

The analysis of grade-crossing accidents has been continued throughout the year.

A new system of tabulating accidents has been adopted, suitable to the use of a tabulating machine. As the accident reports are received from the carriers the information is transferred to punched cards which are passed through a tally machine that automatically segregates them into desired classes. This provides a convenient way of studying the accident records and makes possible a more complete analysis of contributing causes and circumstances.

A large number of accidents at grade crossings were investigated and reported as a result of which, in many cases, recommendations were made for additional protection and improvement in the condition of the various crossings.

Signaling and Train Control.

Many requests for alterations for interlocking plants were received by this Commission during the last fiscal year which involved a study in each case by the Transportation Division. After any changes were completed a field inspection was made. During the year field inspections have been conducted by this division at fifty-one different interlocking plants, of which seven were new installations.

On March 1, 1928, the Pacific Electric Railway Company, upon recommendation of the Transportation Division and the request of the Commission, placed in service automatic train stop system in the Hollywood-Glendale subway.

The Santa Fe Railway Company, at the request of this Commission, placed in service between Angiola and Landis (Valley Division) the three position upper quadrant semaphore signal system during the month of December, 1927. This now completes the automatic block signal system between Richmond and Bakersfield.

The Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company has completed the modernization of its automatic block signal system, to comply with this Commission's recent order.

OTHER SAFETY MATTERS

During the last year an intensive study has been made of impaired clearances on the several railroads throughout the state, and a large number of structures and obstructions have been moved and placed in a location to conform with the provisions of General Order No. 26-C.

Train accidents resulting in the loss of life, serious injury to passengers or employees, or serious damage to property have been investigated by this division, with the hope of working out and recommending plans for correction which will prevent their recurrence.

Chapter XIII

VALUATION DIVISION

The Valuation Division of the Engineering Department during the fiscal year 1927–1928, comprised an average staff of approximately twenty assistant engineers in addition to the Valuation Engineer. During the year, the Valuation Division activities included work on twenty-five independent appraisals authorized under nine condemnation proceedings, seven rate proceedings and six security issue proceedings. Properties of six different types of utilities located in various parts of the state, were included in these investigations; twelve of the valuations referred to were in progress when the year began, eight were commenced and finished and ten were still in progress when the year ended.

Following is a condensed statement showing the valuations prepared by the Valuation Division under various proceedings:

VALUATIONS FOR RATE PROCEEDINGS

The important valuations prepared for rate proceedings are for the Pacific Electric Railway Company, the Stockton Electric Railroad Company, the Monterey County Water Works and the West Side Natural Gas Company.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company valuation, prepared by the Commission's engineers in 1920, was brought up to December 31, 1926. This work required a careful check of over eighteen million dollars of expenditures for additions and betterments and the allocation of these charges, by accounts, to 122 valuation sections.

A complete new inventory and appraisal of the property owned by the Stockton Electric Railroad Company was prepared on both the historical and the reproduction cost new basis. A detailed inventory and appraisal was also prepared of the property owned by the West Side Natural Gas Company.

The valuations of the San Jose Railroads, Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Sacramento Street Railway, and the Golden Gate Ferry Company were brought forward to December 31, 1927, for use in rate proceedings.

VALUATIONS FOR CONDEMNATION PURPOSES

A complete inventory and appraisal of the California Water Service Company's property in Fresno and vicinity was prepared and introduced in evidence under Application No. 13655. This valuation was prepared on the reproduction cost new basis, with three methods being used to determine the depreciated values; namely, the straight line, the 5 per cent sinking fund and the equal annual cost methods.

An inventory and appraisal is also being prepared in the proceeding inaugurated by the city of Visalia, under Application No. 13668, for the condemnation of the Visalia water property, owned by the California Water Service Company.

There have been three inventories and appraisals prepared in the proceedings inaugurated by the city of Los Angeles, to acquire by condemnation certain electric properties of Southern California Edison Company. The inventory and appraisal made in connection with Application No. 10882 was completed last year. Detailed field inventories and appraisals have been completed and the unit cost studies are now being prepared for these proceedings on Applications Nos. 13437 and 13978.

In all of the foregoing valuations prepared for condemnation purposes, as well as for the San Francisco electric properties of Pacific Gas and Electric Company (Application No. 9768) and the Great Western Power Company of California and Universal Gas and Electric Company (Application No. 9767), the additions and betterments have been carefully analyzed, removals from plant deducted, and the valuations kept up to date.

VALUATIONS FOR FINANCIAL PROCEEDINGS

Complete new inventories and appraisals were prepared of the properties owned by the Delta Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Santa Cruz County Utilities and The Capitola Company, in proceedings involving the issue of securities. A detailed check is being made of the valuations prepared by the California Water Service Company of the properties acquired from the Hanford Water Company and the Bay Point Utilities Company.

VALUATIONS FOR TAX PURPOSES

Cooperating with the investigation by the California Tax Commission, the Valuation Division assisted in preparing valuations of the operative properties in California of the utilities paying state taxes on the basis of a percentage of gross revenue. The historical reproduction cost, reproduction cost new and reproduction cost new less depreciation was approximately determined as of December 31, 1926, March 1, 1927, and December 31, 1927, respectively, for fifty steam railroads, twenty-seven electric railroads, sixty-five electric utilities, twenty-six gas utilities, three telegraph companies, two car companies and one express company.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION VALUATIONS

Under the Federal Valuation Act, the states are made parties to the valuation proceedings for each carrier located wholly or in part within the state, and the various reports prepared by the Bureau of Valuation of the Interstate Commerce Commission are submitted to the governor of each state. These reports are referred to the Railroad Commission and when received are checked and, if deemed necessary, a protest is prepared and submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Final valuation reports were received from the Interstate Commerce Commission and checked during the fiscal year for the following railroads:

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company.
Santa Maria Valley Railroad Company.
Sunset Railway Company.

The Federal Bureau of Valuation has commenced the preparation of valuations of certain newly constructed or recently acquired railroads located within the state. The Valuation Division is cooperating with the Bureau of Valuation in this work and has assigned an engineer to work with their field party which, at the close of the fiscal year, was taking field notes for the Ventura County Railway Company valuation.

CHAPTER XIV

LEGAL DEPARTMENT

Due to a large amount of active litigation and an increase in the general work of the legal department, the fiscal year 1927–1928 proved to be a busy one for the attorney and his staff, who were called upon to represent the Commission in twenty-seven court cases, in addition to the general work of advising the Commission and its staff on legal problems arising in connection with its duties.

During the year one case was decided by the United States Supreme Court, one case by the Federal District Court, six cases by the California Supreme Court and three cases by the Interstate Commerce Commission, in matters involving the jurisdiction or orders of the Commission. At the close of the fiscal year seventeen cases, in which the Railroad Commission was an interested party, were still pending, three in the United States Supreme Court, two in the Federal District Court, eight in the California Supreme Court, three in the superior courts of California and two before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Thus during the year the legal department represented the Commission in three cases before the United States Supreme Court, fourteen before the California Supreme Court, three before the Federal District Court, five before the Interstate Commerce Commission and three before the superior courts of California.

Of the cases decided during the year the decision of the Federal District Court in B. G. Adams vs. Decoto et al. is of particular importance. The Commission ordered Adams, who operates the "Vermont Water Company" in Los Angeles County, to return to a number of his consumers certain "tap fees" held to have been collected by him in violation of one of his rules and regulations filed with the Commission.

The State Supreme Court denied a writ of review and the Commission thereupon issued an order directing Adams to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for his failure and refusal to obey the order of the Railroad Commission. Prior to the hearing of this matter a temporary restraining order was served on the Commission, and it was directed to show cause before a special statutory court of three federal judges why it should not be restrained from proceeding to hear this contempt matter. By the decision of this court the temporary restraining order was dissolved and the motion of the Commission that the case against it be dismissed was granted.

This decision is of great importance in that it sustained the Commission's authority to proceed under those provisions of the Public Utilities Act giving it authority to punish violations of its orders through contempt proceedings.

The court in its opinion states:

> It is not for this or any other federal court to anticipate what punishment the State Railroad Commission will impose for the contempt of its order committed by the plaintiff Adams. On the contrary the presumption clearly is that whatever punishment is so imposed will be in accordance with the provisions both of the laws and of the constitution of the State of California.

In addition to conducting all litigation and other legal proceedings for the Commission, the legal department assists and advises in connection with legal problems entering into opinions and decisions of the Commission and advises the Commission and its staff upon all matters involving questions of law in relation to proceedings brought or pending before the Commission. This work has steadily and rapidly increased from year to year and, while it is generally deemed advisable for a member of the legal staff to be present at important Commission hearings, this has proved impossible with but three attorneys in the department. Important hearings have, however, been attended whenever possible.

During the year a complete digest of the decisions and orders of the Commission was published. Supplementary digests will be prepared for each volume of decisions.

CASES DECIDED

During the fiscal year 1927–1928 the following cases were decided:

United States Supreme Court

1. Holmes et al. vs. Railroad Commission.

This matter involved the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission over so-called private automotive carriers. Petitioners claimed to be operating solely under private contract, and not between fixed termini or over a regular route. Subsequent to the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in Frost and Frost vs. Railroad Commission (271 U. S. 583; 70 L. Ed. 1101) this proceeding was dismissed at the request of counsel for petitioners.

Federal District Court of California

1. B. G. Adams vs. Decoto et al.

The Railroad Commission directed the above plaintiff to return to consumers certain "tap fees" held to have been collected in violation of rules and regulations on file with the Railroad Commission. After denial of a writ of review by the State Supreme Court a further order was issued directing Adams to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for refusal to obey the order of the Commission. A temporary restraining order was secured in the federal court. After argument before a special statutory court of three federal judges, the restraining order was dissolved, and the Commission's motion to dismiss granted. The decision sustains the power of the Commission to punish violations of its orders through contempt proceedings.

California Supreme Court

1. Bakersfield & Los Angeles Fast Freight vs. Railroad Commission.

This proceeding involved the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission over automotive radial operation. Petition for writ of review was denied.

2. California Transit Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

The Railroad Commission authorized a railway company to abandon certain nonprofitable trains and approved the supplementing and coordination of train service with proposed stage service of a subsidiary bus company, granting a certificate to the latter. Petitioner, whose application to operate stage service was denied by the Commission, sought a writ of review, which was denied by the Supreme Court.

3. Hotchkiss vs. Railroad Commission.

This was a petition for a writ of review to annul a decision of the Railroad Commission holding that petitioner was operating a public utility water system, and directing the filing of rates, rules, and regulations, and the improving of service. It was contended that the system was not public utility in nature, and that the water supplied was surplus water. The petition was denied.

4. Bakersfield & Los Angeles Fast Freight vs. Railroad Commission.

A writ of review was sought to annul an order of the Railroad Commission granting a certificate to operate motor trucks, the question being whether the proposed operations were purely radial in character or "between fixed termini or over a regular route." The petition was denied.

5. Golden Gate Ferry Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

This was a proceeding to review a decision of the Railroad Commission holding that the Southern Pacific Company, operating a system of passenger and vehicular ferries upon the bay of San Francisco, was not required to obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity before commencing to offer a vehicular, as well as a passenger, ferry service between its pier in Alameda on the one hand and San Francisco on the other, and hinged upon the construction of section 50 (d) of the Public Utilities Act. The order of the Commission was first sustained; rehearing was granted and after argument the order was annulled, the Supreme Court holding that the Southern Pacific Company must obtain a certificate in order to transport vehicles although it was lawfully transporting passengers between the points involved on the effective date of the section.

6. Sutter-Butte Canal Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

This was a petition for a writ of review to annul a decision and order of the Railroad Commission dealing with certain contracts for the furnishing of water by the petitioner; with the valuation of petitioner's properties for rate fixing purposes; and generally with petitioner's water rights. The petitioner contended that the Commission did not legally pursue its authority but acted in excess of its jurisdiction in fixing the rate schedules as to contract holders and in fixing the rate base. The order of the Commission was affirmed. The matter has been taken before the Supreme Court of the United States and is now pending in that court.

Interstate Commerce Commission

1. Mutual Creamery Co. vs. American Railway Express Co.

This was a proceeding in which the Mutual Creamery Company of Salt Lake, Utah, filed a complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission, alleging that the rates of the American Railway Express Company maintained for the transportation of milk and cream within the State of California were preferential to milk and cream shippers in California, and discriminatory to Utah interests, and urging the establishment of a uniform schedule of rates. The California Commission intervened and assisted in presenting to the Interstate Commerce Commission testimony and exhibits showing the variable climatic conditions, the good highways, the truck competition, and other influences justifying the present low schedule of rates in California. The complaint was dismissed by the federal commission.

2. California Growers' and Shippers' Protective League vs. Southern Pacific Company et al.

This case involved the petition of growers of California deciduous fruits for a reduction of rates applicable on transcontinential shipments from $1.73 to $1.44. A showing of extreme economic distress on the part of the fruit producers was made by the complainant, and the Railroad Commission joined in urging a reduction in the rates. The rate of $1.73 was found unreasonable to the extent that it exceeded $1.62.

CASES PENDING

At the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1928, the following active litigation was pending:

United States Supreme Court

1. Miller and Lux, Inc., vs. Railroad Commission.

The Railroad Commission found that the petitioner was operating a public utility water system, and ordered the petitioner to file with the Commission a schedule of rates which were found and declared to be reasonable, and to refund to consumers certain sums of money collected for water service. The petitioner contended that the Commission exceeded its jurisdiction in making this order. The California Supreme Court, however, denied this petition for writ of review, thus sustaining the Commission's order. The matter has been taken before the United States Supreme Court by writ of error, and is still pending in that court.

2. Sutter-Butte Canal Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

(See same case above under "Cases Decided, California Supreme Court.")

Federal District Court of California

1. Los Angeles Railway Corp. vs. Railroad Commission.

Plaintiff, operating a street railway system in the city of Los Angeles, applied for an increase of fare from five to seven cents. The Railroad Commission, after extensive hearings, denied the application. Plaintiff contends that the failure of the Commission to authorize the increase results in a deprivation of property. It is sought, before a special statutory court of three federal judges, to enjoin the Commission from enforcing or attempting to enforce the decision denying the increase. This important proceeding involves many questions of valuation, franchise contracts, jurisdiction of the federal courts, etc.

2. Hobart Estate Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

Plaintiffs filed with the Railroad Commission an application seeking leave to abandon their public utility irrigation service on the ground that such service could not be continued save at a loss. Lengthy hearings were held, after which the Commission denied the request to abandon service. It is this order which plaintiffs allege to be violative of certain of their constitutional rights. Plaintiffs seek to enjoin enforcement of the Commission's order.

California Supreme Court

1. Southern Sierras Power Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

This is purely a test case brought for the purpose of securing an authoritative determination as to whether authority to issue capital stock must be obtained from the Railroad Commission by a foreign corporation lawfully operating a public utility enterprise in this state. Petitioner, a Wyoming corporation, seeks a writ of mandate requiring the Commission to assume jurisdiction over petitioner's application, which was dismissed for lack of jurisdiction.

2. Baldwin et al. vs. Railroad Commission.

This is a proceeding to review an order of the Railroad Commission authorizing the transfer of the utility properties of the San Joaquin and K. R. C. and I Co. to the San Joaquin Water Storage District. Formal protests were made by petitioners, who are consumers of the canal company, upon the following grounds, among others: that consumers would be forced to pay more for water under the district plan; that the prices which the district agreed to pay for these properties were exorbitant; and that the agreed purchase price was not based upon a proper valuation. The question involved is whether the Commission, in view of the protests before it, regularly pursued its authority when it authorized the transfer.

3. Haynes vs. MacFarlane.

The question involved in this proceeding is whether or not an automotive truck operator, hauling freight over the public highways between fixed termini or over regular routes for compensation, may, by entering into numerous alleged "private contracts," escape regulation under the Auto Stage and Truck Transportation Act. The matter is before the Supreme Court on appeal from an injunction obtained by an authorized carrier, and the Commission was granted leave to file a brief as amicus curiae.

4. Haines Canyon Water Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

This proceeding is to review an order of the Railroad Commission denying petitioner an increase in its water rates. Petitioner contends that the Commission did not regularly pursue its authority and that the decision and order are confiscatory. Petitioner questions the Commission's valuation of its properties, particularly as to water rights and "going value."

5. Oakland Terminal and Elevator Corp. vs. Mercantile Trust Co. of California.

The plaintiff and appellant warehouse utility issued its promissory note for a period of less than a year, together with its deed of trust to secure the payment of the note, neither the note nor the deed of trust being authorized by the Railroad Commission. The note being unpaid at maturity and recourse having been had to a sale of the property under the deed of trust, the question to be determined is whether such sale should have been enjoined on the ground that the deed of trust had not received the approval of the Commission. As the case involves the construction of certain sections of the Public Utilities Act, the Commission requested and obtained permission to file briefs as amicus curiae.

6. A. T. & S. F. Ry. Co. vs. Railroad Commission;
L. A. & S. L. R. Co. vs. Railroad Commission;
Southern Pacific Co. vs. Railroad Commission.

The above are the so-called "Los Angeles Union Terminal Cases." This proceeding involves an attack upon an order of the Railroad Commission directing the three petitioning railroads to erect a union passenger station within a defined area in Los Angeles in substantial compliance with a plan filed before the Commission. It is probably the most important matter from the public standpoint which has gone to the Supreme Court from the Railroad Commission in more than a decade. It involves intricate and basic problems relating to the division of powers between the states and the nation; of the extent of the sovereign police power of the state; of the powers of the states in the regulation of public utilities, and of service by common carriers to the public.

Superior Court

1. City of Oakland vs. E. Ruedy et al.

This matter involves the authority of a municipality to condemn a railroad right of way longitudinally for street purposes and the jurisdiction of the court to maintain such suit, in advance of the municipality having obtained such authority from the Railroad Commission.

2. Gardner vs. Railroad Commission.

This case, which has been pending during the last four fiscal years, involves a petition for an injunction in the superior court of the county of Marin, asking that the Railroad Commission be ordered not to interfere with a grade crossing over the tracks of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company.

3. People vs. Kane.

This is a proceeding instituted by the Railroad Commission to recover from defendant warehouseman certain penalties prescribed by the Public Utilities Act for charging rates different from tariffs lawfully on file with the Commission.

Interstate Commerce Commission

1. Rate Structure Investigation (Docket 17000).

This is an investigation to determine the extent and manner in which the rate structure of common carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act is in any respect unlawful, and to make, in accordance with law, such changes, adjustments and redistribution in the rate structure as may be necessary to correct any defects found to exist.

2. In the Matter of the Consolidation of Railroads of Continental United States (Docket No. 12964).

This proceeding, which has been pending during the last four fiscal years, was initiated pursuant to certain provisions of the Transportation Act of 1920, and relates to possible plans for the consolidation of the railroads of continental United States into "a limited number of systems." The Railroad Commission appeared at the hearings held at San Francisco and Los Angeles, and presented evidence dealing with certain railroad problems in the State of California which, in its opinion, had relation to the matter under consideration by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY

Since the reorganization of the Commission in 1911 it has made 19,974 formal orders and decisions. During that same period it has been a party to 192 court proceedings, of which 17 are still pending. Of these cases, 25 have been decided against the Commission, but included in these are five which have been reversed by later action of the California Supreme Court, four which were test cases, and although nominally decided against the Commission, in reality, sustained the Commission in principle; and one which, though actually sustaining the Commission, went off on a minor technical point.

This leaves a net of 15 cases lost during these 17 years, out of the 192 cases which have been handled. In other words, the formal action of this Commission, in the regulation of public utilities in California as expressed in nearly 20,000 decisions, has been reversed in but 15 instances, considerably less than one-tenth of 1 per cent.

This record is, we believe, rendered even more impressive by the fact that of the cases lost a large number went off upon such technical questions as dedication to public use, or the status of corporations or persons as public utilities.

BIENNIAL REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To His Excellency, C. C. Young,
Governor of California.

Sir: In compliance with law, the State Board of Equalization submits the following as its biennial report covering the assessment years 1927 and 1928, including a review of the tax litigation in which the state has been involved, as well as of other matters relating to and affecting the revenue system of California. We append a detailed statement of our expenditures during these years and have set forth statistical information on agricultural, horticultural, live stock, city and county values and state revenue sources.

Respectfully submitted.

R. E. Collins, Chairman,
John C. Corbett,
Fred E. Stewart,
H. G. Cattell,
Ray L. Riley, Controller.

Dixwell L. Pierce, Secretary.
December 1, 1928.

REVIEW OF TAX LITIGATION

During the past two years California has been particularly successful with reference to tax litigation. But one judgment has been rendered against the state in the Supreme Court, while in several matters the position of the taxing authorities has been upheld. With comparatively few exceptions, the validity of our revenue system has remained unquestioned.

The one judgment involving a tax matter which has become final against the state was in the case of Perkins Manufacturing Company vs. Jordan, 200 Cal. 667, in which the Supreme Court decided that the Corporation License Tax Act administered by the Secretary of State was invalid as applied to a foreign corporation. Although the possible effect of this holding caused some anxiety with reference to prior collections, no corporation has been a successful litigant in its effort to recover license taxes paid under the act in question. Because of the manifest inequity of continuing to exact these payments from domestic corporations, the 1927 legislature repealed the tax.

BANKS

Much has been said concerning bank tax litigation. However, it may not be inappropriate to review briefly the facts.

In 1926 certain national banks paid their shareholders' taxes under protest, claiming discrimination contrary to the provisions of Section 5219 of the United States Revised Statutes. It was said that the 7 per cent assessment of intangibles, as required by Section 3627*a* of the Political Code (adopted in 1925) was discriminatory, since capital in competition with banks was afforded more favorable tax treatment. Similar protests were made in 1927 and in 1928. Some litigation has been instituted for recovery of the taxes.

Because of inclusion by our board of the item of "interest due but uncollected" in arriving at the value of bank shares, several state and national banks have protested their taxes to this extent and some have filed suits to recover portions of their 1926 and 1927 levies. As will appear from the tabulation appended, the amounts involved are comparatively small, and the aggregate litigated for both years is less than $30,000.

In addition, a few state banks have commenced action for recovery of taxes on grounds analogous to those urged by national banks with reference to discrimination. The First National Bank of Selma has asked for the return of $1,229.68 because of alleged overassessment producing an excess tax to that extent.

Although many of these suits have been pending in the superior court for more than a year, none of them has been tried. Demurrers are on file and remain to be determined. It should be observed that no bank has secured judgment against the state for the return of 1926 or 1927 taxes paid or any part thereof. Even if this should occur, in the normal course of litigation considerable time would elapse before a judgment could become final.

The Attorney General has afforded us a complete list of actions brought for the recovery of bank taxes, as appearing from the records of his office. Approximately 260 national banks were taxed by us in 1926; seventeen have sued alleging discrimination. Approximately 255 national banks were taxed by us in 1927; thirty-four have sued alleging discrimination.

The entire amount involved in litigated bank taxes is $2,253,245.51. This is confined to 1926 and 1927 levies. Although practically all banks have paid the first installment of 1928 taxes, so far as we are informed, no suits have been brought for the recovery of these payments.

The percentages of tax involved in litigation are as follows:

Tax year	Class of bank	Total tax levied	Amount litigated	Percentage in litigation
1926	National	$1,513,942 54	$965,430 73	63.769
1926	State	2,833,860 76	293,694 45	10.364
1927	National	1,924,886 49	994,120 33	51.646
1927	State	2,459,905 09	None	None
Totals		$8,732,594 88	$2,253,245 51	25.803

In view of the limitation imposed by section 3669*a* of the Political Code, we do not apprehend that any bank which has not already instituted suit for the recovery of 1926 or 1927 taxes can do so now effectively. Following are the data which the Attorney General has afforded concerning pending bank litigation:

These suits are still pending, notwithstanding the adoption by the people of a new method for taxing banks "according to or measured by their net income." (Proposition No. 3 on the ballot, November 6, 1928.) How the matter will end remains to be seen.

RAILROADS

There are but two railroad tax suits now pending and both are in the Supreme Court. Each involves the taxation of the earnings from interurban electric railroad and ferry service between San Francisco and the East Bay. In one the state is respondent and in the other it is appellant.

The Southern Pacific Company has appealed a judgment for the state in the superior court of Sacramento County, holding that electric railroad earnings of the company may be taxed at a 7 per cent rate rather than 5¼ per cent, while the state has appealed a judgment from the same court holding that Key System Transit Company may not be taxed as to its entire revenues on the ground that its ferryboats are not used exclusively in rail line business. In the latter case there is also involved the question of the taxability of certain commissary earnings.

OPERATIVE PROPERTY

In June, 1927, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Southern California Telephone Company commenced original proceedings in mandamus in the Supreme Court to compel our board to declare certain property of the petitioners to be operative, and, therefore, exempt from local taxation. The principal point involved was whether property not owned by a company taxed on its gross receipts could be claimed as operative, if leased by that company and used exclusively for operative purposes. The petitions were denied but thereafter a rehearing was granted and the proceedings dismissed by the petitioners, so that the question still remains undetermined so far as our Supreme Court is concerned.

It should be observed, however, that the Supreme Court of the United States, in the case of Hopkins vs. Southern California Telephone Company, 273 U. S. 685, has decided that instruments leased by that company and used in its telephone business are operative, notwithstanding that they are not owned by the company.

Mandamus proceedings involving the classification of property as operative or nonoperative have been instituted in the Supreme Court by Feather River Power Company. The petition is for a writ to compel our Board to declare petitioner's property operative as of the first Monday in March of this year and the matter is now under submission. Several questions are involved, such as the sufficiency of the petitioner's reports to the state board and the assessor of the county wherein the property is situated, the nature of the use of the property on the assessment date, and the basis of taxation in view of the fact that no operations were claimed prior to the day preceding the first Monday in March, so that there were no gross receipts from operation for the previous calendar year.

MOTOR VEHICLE TRANSPORTATION LICENSE TAX

All litigation involving the constitutionality of the quarterly motor vehicle transportation license tax, based upon 4 per cent of gross receipts from operation, for which provision was made by chapter 341, Statutes 1923, and chapter 412, Statutes 1925, was determined in favor of the state in the latter part of 1926. Pending this final determination a large part of the taxes assessed under these acts had remained unpaid.

There are on file in the superior court of Sacramento County about 500 cases and in the justice's court of the city of Sacramento about 4000 cases in which the state is seeking to collect delinquent motor vehicle transportation license taxes. About 25 of this group are ready for trial and will involve the effect of the repeal of each act on the right of the state to collect. The 1923 law was repealed on July 24, 1925, while the 1925 act was repealed on January 1, 1928. The bar of the statute of limitations to collections under the 1923 statute is claimed in some cases.

California Transit Company has instituted an action to recover taxes paid under protest under the act of 1925, involving the right of the state to demand payment of the 4 per cent tax on operations during the period between the adoption of section 15 of Article XIII of the constitution (November 2, 1926) and the first Monday in March, 1927. The state has not filed its appearance.

HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION COMPANIES

An action was commenced in the United States District Court by Bekins Van Lines against Riley, as Controller, to enjoin the collection of the 5 per cent highway transportation company tax on gross earnings for which provision is made by section 15 of Article XIII of the constitution on the ground that such an imposition is violative of the equal protection clause of the federal constitution. The bill was dismissed and an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States is being prepared.

B and H Transportation Company brought an action in the superior court of Los Angeles County questioning the right of our board to include receipts from intracity business in the tax base under section 15 of Article XIII of the constitution. A demurrer to the complaint was sustained and a demurrer to an amended complaint is pending.

The superior court of Sacramento County gave judgment in favor of the state against Leslie T. Alward in an action predicated upon the proposition that our board was in error in including in the tax base under section 15 of Article XIII revenue from performing a contract to carry United States mail. This judgment has been appealed by the plaintiff and the matter is partially briefed in the Supreme Court.

MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAXES

The constitutionality of chapter 267, Statutes 1923, providing for the tax of two cents on each gallon of motor vehicle fuel distributed in California has been upheld by the District Court of Appeal in its decision in the case of People vs. Sterling, 54 Cal. App. Dec. 777. In the same case it was decided that gasoline which is one-half kerosene constitutes "a volatile and inflammable liquid," and if sold to operate automobiles upon public highways, is subject to the license tax on its entire volume.

Important holdings were made by the Supreme Court in the cases of People vs. Ventura Refining Company, 75 Cal. Dec. 759 and People vs. Richfield Oil Company and People vs. General Petroleum Company, immediately following in the reports. In these matters it was determined that the state is entitled to collect the license tax for distributions made under executory contracts of sale entered into prior to May 14, 1923, if such contracts contained no fixity of price which would prevent the indemnification of the distributor for taxes accruing. The law had contained an exemption for contracts of sale entered into prior to May 14, 1923, and the question of the extent of this exemption involved several hundred thousands of dollars of taxes in cases such as those described.

An attempt to invalidate gasoline tax statutes because of alleged conflict with anti-toll provisions in the Federal Highway Act and violation of the fourteenth amendment of the federal constitution was involved in an action begun recently in the United States District Court (Williams vs. Riley). The bill was dismissed and we are informed that an appeal is being prepared to the United States Supreme Court.

FRANCHISE TAXES

Action of our Board in assessing for general corporate franchise the business conducted by certain title insurance companies not coming within the purview of the taxation provided particularly for insurance companies, has been upheld in suits brought in the superior court of Sacramento County by Title Guarantee and Trust Company and Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles. As the judgment has not yet been formally entered, we are not in a position to say whether the holding will be appealed.

Eight suits are on file against the state in the superior court brought by corporations alleging that their general corporate franchises have been overassessed by our board because of the alleged nonprofit character of their activities. None of these cases has been tried.

LITIGATION INVOLVING GENERAL PROPERTY TAXES

In the case of Arnold vs. Hopkins, 75 Cal. Dec. 397, the Supreme Court decided that section 3627*a* of the Political Code, providing for special tax treatment of intangibles, was invalid both as originally enacted in 1925 and as amended in 1927, thus resulting in the reestablishment of the law concerning the taxation of such property to its previous condition. However, since the adoption of section 16 of Article XIII of the constitution at the last general election, it would appear that the legislature may provide for special treatment of such properties without reference to the constitutional objections which were previously sustained.

MATTERS OF GENERAL CONCERN AFFECTING THE REVENUE SYSTEM

As we have indicated in our review of tax litigation, the stability of our revenue system is becoming more and more firmly established with the passage of time and the determination of constitutional questions relating to tax matters. Various administrative difficulties have been met through appropriate amendment of the statutes. Meanwhile, the fundamental soundness of our basic laws seems generally accepted.

While it is true that economic changes may induce modification of methods of raising funds for public expenditure, it must be observed that radical revision of taxation should be had only in case of extreme urgency. The present revenue system has provided ample funds for state expenditure and has yielded a surplus which will probably exceed twenty million dollars at the end of the current biennium. These facts are not to be lightly discarded.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

In our special report concerning comparative tax burdens of operative and nonoperative property, appearing on following pages, we have directed attention to the possibilities for additional state revenue through certain adjustments of rates of gross receipts taxation imposed on public utilities to make their taxes conformable to the average burden of other taxpayers. There does not seem to be any occasion for apprehension that these taxes will prove an insufficient source of revenue during the next biennium.

BANKS

Regardless of the question of the relative merits of the new tax "according to or measured by net income" and the methods formerly employed as a means of taxing banks and other corporations, it seems an unwarranted invasion of the sovereign rights of a state for the federal government to provide such an inelastic method for the taxation of national banks that the state is compelled to revolutionize a very large part of its revenue system in order to tax such institutions. Therefore, we urge that the legislature memorialize Congress to so amend section 5219 of the Revised Statutes of the United States that California and other states of the Union may have greater latitude in a matter which should be regarded as strictly within their sovereign powers. Obviously, there is no occasion for the degree of "protection" which is now afforded national banks under the federal laws.

FRANCHISES

In view of the fact that subdivision 2 of section 16 of Article XIII of the constitution, adopted November 6, 1928, authorizes the legislature to supplant the method of taxation prescribed by section 14*d* of Article XIII and section 3664*d* of the Political Code, by requiring that hereafter corporations shall pay taxes "according to or measured by their net income," we deem it pertinent to give the statistical history of the franchise tax during the years in which it was in operation:

STATISTICAL HISTORY OF THE FRANCHISE TAX

Year of assessment	Rate of tax per $100	Number of franchises assessed	Total tax assessed	Average tax per corporation
1911	1	18,264	$1,677,970	$91.873
1912	1	18,109	1,630,898	90.060
1913	1	18,866	1,575,495	83.510
1914	1	19,322	1,761,946	91.188
1915	1.2	20,376	1,938,565	95.139
1916	1.2	18,098	1,957,797	108.177
1917	1.2	16,713	2,104,013	125.891
1918	1.2	17,083	1,972,425	115.462
1919	1.2	16,615	2,034,270	122.435
1920	1.2	18,568	2,321,805	125.044
1921	1.6	19,003	3,147,026	165.606
1922	1.6	19,116	3,179,052	166.303
1923	1.6	20,479	3,497,012	170.761
1924	1.6	22,473	3,931,996	174.965
1925	1.6	23,521	3,950,084	167.938
1926	1.6	24,578	4,057,026	165.067
1927	1.8	26,606	4,725,215	177.599
1928	1.8	28,304	4,691,340	165.748

The future of "franchise" taxes computed according to net income remains largely to be determined by legislative and administrative action. Since we apprehend that banks will not pay more than one-third as much taxes as formerly, it would seem to follow that franchise taxes must be increased materially in order to maintain the flow of revenue from these two sources.

HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION COMPANIES

Statistics showing the result of the levy on the gross receipts of common carriers operating over the public highways of this state over regular routes or between fixed termini are set forth in the appendix to this report. The tax has been in effect for two years, having been imposed as the result of the adoption of a constitutional amendment on November 2, 1926, which added section 15 to Article XIII of the constitution.

The efficient administration of this tax has required our board to apprise itself of trucking operations in the state so that we might determine what companies are liable to the tax and whether or not we have correct information concerning their gross receipts from operation. Unlike other forms of gross receipts taxes, this is not primarily confined to larger corporations. Many of the "companies" coming within the purview of the law are individuals heretofore unaccustomed to dealing directly with the state in connection with any matters affecting their business. They have been quite unfamiliar with the distinction between operative and nonoperative receipts and operative and nonoperative property.

Because of these factors, it was deemed advisable to arrange for representatives of our board to make a canvass of the state in order to inform us fully of the facts concerning such operations and, also, in order to advise those coming within the classification of highway transportation companies with regard to their tax liability. This program of supervision was inaugurated with reference to the current taxes and had the direct result of adding $3,924,430 to the gross receipts liable to this form of taxation. It also accomplished much toward better informing the public as to the application of the law.

Although the present form of taxation on these companies is a distinct improvement over the former motor vehicle transportation license tax (repealed in 1927), there are certain inequalities existing under the present law which should be removed. This tax is restricted to companies operating as common carriers over a regular route or between fixed terminals; the classification excludes from its purview the operations of those hauling under contract and those carrying on a spasmodic business in different sectors. Frequently, such operators come into direct competition with highway transportation companies and cause disastrous diminishment of the revenues of the latter, inasmuch as the contract haulers are not subject to as heavy taxation and, therefore, feel at liberty to cut rates.

It will be remembered that the electorate adopted as Proposition Number 8 on the ballot for November 6, 1928, what was popularly known as the "Wagy Bill," which raised the registration fees on trucks through amendment of section 77 of the California vehicle act. That bill, however, was designed to accomplish equity between trucks and other types of motor vehicles using the public roads, and, more than anything else, to compel trucking interests to bear their proportionate share of the highway repair bill. It did not afford an adequate method of equalizing the taxes between those subject to the gross receipts levy and those hauling for hire who are not so taxed. We shall comment upon this further in our recommendations as to legislation.

MOTOR VEHICLE FUEL TAXES

The motor vehicle fuel tax has raised more funds for state purposes than any other levy. After five years of administration of this tax, we are led to conclude that it is the most scientific and, at the same time, the simplest and most economical method of raising revenue that the state has yet devised.

For the most part, the imposition of the tax has functioned smoothly. As we have indicated in our summary of tax litigation, the state has been successful in upholding the validity of the tax and its right to certain payments which were contested on account of contractual arrangements. A few administrative difficulties have developed and we desire to make some recommendations concerning them. These will be outlined later in our report.

DISTRIBUTION OF REVENUE LAWS

For the purpose of enabling officials, taxpayers, students of taxation and others interested in revenue matters to have the complete laws of the state relating to revenue in accessible form, our board arranged for the compilation of these laws by the secretary and their publication in a single volume. This publication seems to be justified by the demand for the book, entitled "Revenue Laws of California, 1928," as more than 2000 copies have already been distributed on special request. Additional requests for copies are being received almost daily from various sources.

RECOMMENDATIONS AS TO LEGISLATION

Inasmuch as the California Tax Commission will undoubtedly submit its findings and recommendations to the legislature concerning tax legislation, the function of our board in advocating changes is restricted materially. However, through our constant contact with problems of taxation arising in the course of the administration of the state's revenue laws, we have observed certain matters, which we deem it advisable to mention.

To equalize the tax burden between those motor vehicle transportation operators who are subject to gross receipts taxation under section 15 of Article XIII of the constitution and those who are not, we recommend that the California vehicle act be amended to require all those who operate for hire to secure special licenses at fees which will be materially greater than those now prescribed for commercial vehicles generally. It is submitted that persons so using the highways derive more than usual benefit and should pay accordingly.

Owing to sharp competitive conditions in motor vehicle fuel sales there has developed an apparent tendency to place adulterated products on the market as "gasoline." This practice is twofold in its ill effects: (1) the public buys a product which is an unsatisfactory fuel and may actually cause serious damage to motor equipment; (2) the state frequently is unable to collect the entire motor vehicle fuel tax on the adulterated product, since much of the adulteration is done by unauthorized persons who have no license from our board, and, therefore, do not make returns to us concerning their distribution.

To avoid this situation we recommend that the motor vehicle fuel tax laws be amended to specify a standard for motor vehicle fuel and to make it unlawful to sell products not meeting that standard; that we be empowered to arrange for such inspection of fuel as may be necessary to determine whether it complies with the standard; that appropriate penal provisions be enacted for violations of the law.

There are, in addition, certain minor administrative changes which should be made in the fuel tax laws with regard to penalties and the relationship between the two-cent and the one-cent act. By means of these changes, ambiguities which now exist may be removed.

In the compilation of laws relating to revenues, we found certain inconsistencies which we believe should be eliminated from the statutes. As these defects consist mainly of technical faults in wording or repeals by implication and court decisions, it appears appropriate that they should be reviewed for the purpose of curative legislation. A summary of the legislative changes necessary to remove the defects is appended:

POLITICAL CODE

1. Section 3611. This should be amended to make failure to file an affidavit or furnish evidence in support of a claim for church exemption constitute waiver of the exemption (as it does in other cases). This will cure the defect pointed out by the Supreme Court in First M. E. Church vs. Los Angeles, 75 Cal. Dec. 701, wherein it was held that due to the wording of the section, no proof need be furnished the assessor to entitle the church to exemption.

2. Section 3713. This was last amended in 1909, to provide for tax levies for the sixty-first and sixty-second fiscal years. It is manifestly obsolete and should be repealed.

3. Sections 3824, 3825, 3828. These have become obsolete, due to the adoption of section 9*a* of Article XIII of the constitution in 1924. They provide for adjustments in unsecured personal property taxes no longer necessary because the constitution fixes definitely the rate. No useful purpose is served by their retention in the Code, where they cause confusion. They should be repealed.

4. Sections 3839 to 3856, inclusive. These sections provide for a poll tax on aliens. They were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in the case of In re Kotta, 187 Cal. 27, because violative of the fourteenth amendment to federal constitution. As the sections are inoperative, they should be repealed.

5. Section 3898, Sub. 5a. This subsection provides for reimbursement of a purchaser at a tax sale when a sale of land made under the provisions of section 3897 or of section 3771 is void. No sales to purchasers are made under the latter section; they were formerly, but in 1921 section 3771 was amended and section 3771*a* added. Now section 3771*a* relates to sales to purchasers. Therefore, section 3898 should be amended accordingly.

6. Section 3898a. There are two sections of this number. In the interests of intelligent codification, one of them should be renumbered.

GENERAL LAWS

7. "An act concerning the assessment of animals" (Act March 30, 1872, Stats. 1871–2, p. 754). This provides for the assessment of transitory live stock; the matter is sufficiently covered by the Political Code and court decisions. The act causes confusion and is probably unconstitutional in its provisions relating to a division between counties of taxes on such property. (See People vs. Townsend, 56 Cal. 633.) It should be repealed.

SPECIAL REPORT OF ADDITIONAL DATA ON RELATIVE TAX BURDENS REQUIRED UNDER SECTION 3664*e* OF THE POLITICAL CODE

SPECIAL REPORT OF ADDITIONAL DATA ON RELATIVE TAX BURDENS REQUIRED UNDER SECTION 3664-e OF THE POLITICAL CODE

To the Legislature of California:

FOREWORD

Under the system of separation of sources of state and local revenues prescribed by the Constitution of California, taxable property is divided into two major classes: (1) operative, and (2) nonoperative.

Broadly defined, operative property is that owned by public utilities and used by them for the production of gross receipts on which a percentage tax is imposed for the support of the state government to the exclusion of the local taxing power. All other property is nonoperative and may be taxed for local purposes.

Since the inauguration of this system in 1910, adjustment of the relative tax burdens imposed on these two classes of property has been the subject of consideration from time to time. In 1921, the legislature directed the State Board of Equalization to compile, during each even-numbered year thereafter, data showing the comparative weight of taxes on operative and nonoperative properties, so that this information might be available at each regular legislative session.

Pursuant to this statutory requirement, our board has secured from public utilities reports showing the value of their operative properties, and has made calculations for translation of gross receipts taxes levied against these utilities into ad valorem taxes against the properties. A detailed account of these studies is given in a separate report to the legislature as prescribed by chapter 154, Statutes of 1921.

To cover the field of local taxation, we have ascertained the total amount of county, city and district taxes levied during the current year and have estimated the actual value of all nonoperative property. From these data, we have constructed a tax rate for comparison with the levy on utilities.

It should be observed that each rate used in this comparison is "constructive" and is the composite of information gathered from many sources. Thus, the average tax burden on either operative or nonoperative property is frequently far from the actual burden. Although, in effect, we have determined a "state rate" and a "local rate," these must be used with caution in making tax adjustments, lest the changes upset a revenue system which, on the whole, has proved remarkably well balanced and a most satisfactory method for raising public funds.

AVERAGE BURDEN OF LOCAL TAXATION

The average tax burden for the year 1928 upon each $100 of actual value of property taxed for local purposes in all counties of California has been determined by the State Board of Equalization to be $1.809.

This tax burden is not the average of the tax rates applied to the assessed values of property, but represents the ratio between the aggregate of all kinds of taxes levied against property for local purposes and the total actual value of all property so taxed in this state. The actual value used for this comparison has been ascertained from appraisements and estimates made under the direction of this board.

Our investigation has disclosed that property taxed on an ad valorem basis in California is not assessed ordinarily at its full market value. Through comparison of the total assessed valuation of nonoperative holdings (property locally taxed) in the state with their aggregate actual value, we find that the assessments average about 42.0 per cent of the appraised or market value of the property.

To determine the percentage of actual value represented by the assessments in the several counties, we ascertained the actual value of selected properties in each county for comparison with the values as fixed by the county assessor on the same properties. For this purpose separate calculations were made as to the relative values of property inside and outside of cities as will be observed from tables 1 and 2 on pages 28 and 29 following. The percentages thus determined were applied to the corresponding total assessed valuations of the county, in order to arrive at the aggregate actual value of the property taxed locally therein. Such procedure was followed in forty-one counties of the state, while in the remaining seventeen counties, with relatively small assessed valuations, an average percentage of true value was used without reference to whether the property was inside or outside of municipalities. The computations concerning these seventeen counties will be found in table 3 on page 29 following.

After thus determining the actual value of property subject to ad valorem taxation in the fifty-eight counties, we compared the aggregate of these values with the total taxes levied on the property. As a result we find the constructive tax rate of $1.809. That is to say, the average local taxes levied in 1928 represented 1.809 per cent of the market or actual value of the property taxed.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

More than 4400 parcels of property were selected for appraisal in forty-one counties of the state. On the basis of assessed valuation these counties contain 97.99 per cent of the nonoperative property in California. The selections were made under the personal supervision of the members of our board, who endeavored to choose only normal or representative properties.

The appraisers were appointed by board members, after careful consideration of their qualifications. Practical knowledge relating to land values was deemed indispensable in every instance. Care was exercised also to secure men of mature judgment, whose appraisals should prove sound and unbiased.

The list of properties to be valued was given to the appraiser with the direction that he fix appraisements thereon as his best judgment might indicate. These values were to be determined as of the first Monday in March, 1928, since that was the date to which all comparative assessments would relate. In several counties the services of two appraisers were used in order to secure the benefit of their combined judgment.

After each list of appraisements and the corresponding assessed valuations had been completed, it was subjected to careful examination in the office of our board and checked with comparative data obtained from other sources. Whenever discrepancies of any consequence were discovered verification of values was required.

In the remaining seventeen counties, representing only 2.01 per cent of the total assessed valuation of nonoperative property in the state, the board deemed it inadvisable to undertake appraisements on such an intensive scale, as the amount appropriated for the purposes of this investigation was barely adequate to meet the expenses already incurred. The several assessors of these counties were asked to furnish statements as to the percentages of true value represented by their assessments. The information so obtained was verified by resort to official records and other competent sources. Since only a small proportion of the total value is included in the data for these counties, the possibility of a material percentage of error is negligible.

To secure information concerning the amount of local tax levies, we asked for the assistance of county auditors, city clerks and other local revenue officials. Through their courteous response we were enabled to collect the necessary data. We gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness to them for this information.

TOTAL LOCAL TAXES

The aggregate of all county, city and district taxes levied in California for the current fiscal year was $291,868,308, marking an increase of $41,208,230 over the corresponding total of $250,660,078 for 1926, which was the last year covered by similar investigations of this Board. Meanwhile, the actual value of nonoperative property has grown to $16,131,847,561 as contrasted with $14,129,598,540 two years ago, so that the tax burden on each $100 has increased to $1.809 from $1.774 in 1926.

In arriving at the total amount of taxes all special taxes were considered, including all sums levied "for county and municipal taxation." Special assessments, such as irrigation and reclamation district levies, which do not constitute taxes in contemplation of law, were excluded.

THE AVERAGE BURDEN OF STATE TAXATION

Public utility corporations and others taxed under subdivision (a) of section 14 of article XIII of the Constitution on a gross receipts basis in lieu of other taxes, were asked to report to the State Board of Equalization concerning the values of their operative property, as required by the provisions of chapter 154, Statutes of 1921. A separate report will be made to the legislature concerning these returns.

Because of intrinsic differences, the valuation of utility properties for tax purposes presents many difficult problems not encountered in the appraisement of the usual types of nonoperative property. Unless due allowance is made for these factors, comparison of values is apt to lead to serious errors in judgment as to relative tax burdens.

After detailed calculations, described in our separate report on utility values, we have concluded that the average tax burden on each $100 of actual value of operative property is $1.535. Naturally, there is a wide range of variance in individual cases, just as there is with nonoperative property, but such conditions are inevitable, and, we do not believe the facts warrant any unusual concern.

An intelligent adjustment of tax burden could not be predicated merely upon mathematical comparison of constructive rates, although these are, of course, useful. Of the seven classes of utilities which are taxed at varying percentages of their gross receipts, four classes appear to be taxed in excess of the constructive rate for nonoperative property, one slightly less than that rate and two at still lower figures. Complete analysis should be made of the causes in each instance, before attempting to formulate any conclusion as to possible adjustment.

TABULATED STATEMENTS

In the following pages tabulations are set forth, in self-explanatory detail, the data forming the bases of our findings with respect to the average tax burden:

SPECIAL REPORT CONCERNING OPERATIVE PROPERTY VALUES REQUIRED UNDER CHAPTER 154, STATUTES 1921

SPECIAL REPORT CONCERNING OPERATIVE PROPERTY VALUES REQUIRED UNDER CHAPTER 154, STATUTES 1921

To the Legislature of California:

FOREWORD

"Value" is a variable term. There is "value in use" which is synonymous with worth or utility. There is "value in exchange" which is equivalent to price. Obviously, they are not interchangeable.

For the purposes of taxation "value" means the amount at which the property would be taken in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor. (Political Code, section 3617.) This connotes "value in exchange," and, therefore, such value should constitute the criterion for taxation.

Six different methods of valuation are required in connection with operative properties of public utilities for the purposes of the reports prescribed by chapter 154, Statutes 1921. They are:

1. Physical value.
2. Stock and bond value.
3. Value as determined by the railroad commission.
4. Value urged for a rate base.
5. Reproduction cost.
6. Original or historical value.

Since no precise basis for "physical value" is fixed by the statute, the companies were asked to state the reproduction cost less depreciation and to supplement this information with original or historical value, less accrued depreciation. Thus, seven distinct values are set forth in the summaries of valuation reports appearing on page 40, post.

In these summaries we have included the names of only those companies which have reported at least one of the several valuations. Where no amount is set forth concerning any particular value, the reason is that the taxpayer failed to furnish sufficient data. These omissions have been attributed almost invariably to inability to secure the information.

COMPARATIVE VALUES

"Value" for tax purposes, as we have indicated, means "value in exchange." Manifestly, original or historical value, even if depreciated, will not satisfy this definition. Such a value has reference to cost and may be far from the worth for purposes of exchange. Reproduction values are subject to the same criticism, while values either urged or fixed for rate base have reference to reasonable return on investment, rather than sale value.

Stock and bond value, representing as it does the combined judgment of the public as to the sale equivalent of the property, is clearly to be preferred. But frequently it appears to be unobtainable. Of course, through capitalization of net earnings, a securities value can be constructed, but this is often unsatisfactory if not impractical.

By use of stock and bond values, wherever given, and by substitution therefor in other cases of depreciated original value, or in the absence of that, cost of reproduction less depreciation, with a final alternative of value fixed for rate purposes, we were enabled to arrive at total valuations for those companies reporting in each class of utilities. These we compared with their aggregate gross receipts taxes to determine the constructive ad valorem tax rates.

COMPARATIVE TAX BURDENS

Our findings are summarized as follows:

Class of company	Rate of tax per $100
Car	$2.166
Express	4.973
Long steam railroad	1.867
Short steam railroad	.699
Electric and street railroad	1.952
Gas and electric	1.270
Telephone and telegraph	1.679

While the foregoing table is indicative of wide variation, it may be observed that the two extremes, express and short steam railroads, are relatively unimportant units in the state's revenue system.

But one express company reported; only two are taxed, and their combined taxes are less than three-tenths of one per cent of the aggregate of the gross receipts levies.

The majority of the short line railroads stated that their securities were practically valueless so that it was necessary for us to use "cost" methods to fix valuations in most instances. Obviously, these give a fictitiously high valuation. Again, the discrepancy is relatively unimportant as the taxes from this source are scarcely 1 per cent of the total levies on gross receipts.

The force of these observations is demonstrated from the fact that when all utilities taxed on a gross receipts basis are considered as a unit, their average tax burden on each $100 of actual value is fixed at $1.535, which is a rate not greatly at variance with that imposed on nonoperative property.

POSSIBLE ADJUSTMENTS OF BURDEN

Fortunately for the state, downward revisions of any consequence are indicated only as to companies contributing but little to the public revenue. Even if the percentages of taxes on the gross receipts of car and express companies should be modified to conform with the rate of $1.809 on $100 of actual value established for nonoperative property, the loss in revenue to the state would be less than $125,000 annually.

Although it is true that taxes on long steam railroads, as well as those on electric and street railways, appear to exceed the average burden, the excess is so small that the adjustments, if made, would be relatively unimportant from a revenue standpoint. They would entail a yearly loss of about $1,600,000, which would be more than offset by gains from other sources.

In fact, when the large volume of business done by gas and electric companies is taken into consideration, it is disclosed that the revision of the gross receipts rate thereon to conform with the average tax burden will add more than $5,600,000 annually to the state's revenues. Moreover, telephone and telegraph companies would contribute in excess of $300,000 yearly in addition to present taxes, should their rate be similarly equalized.

On a strictly mathematical basis, the respective adjustments of gross receipts taxes would yield a net gain to the state of over $5,700,600 for each year of the next biennium. (See Table 3 on page 36, post.) However, it is quite likely that it would be unwise to attempt so radical a revision of the percentage applicable to the gross receipts of short line railroads, particularly in view of the fact that the rate was reduced in 1926 by popular vote. Due allowance must also be made for the decreased earning power of such companies.

It appears further that the average tax burden computed for these lines has been greatly influenced by the inclusion of data concerning two companies which are so far from typical as to cause the statistics to become misleading. These are San Diego and Arizona Railway and Yosemite Valley Railroad Company. Each was an extremely expensive line to build, and, therefore, represents a large value; each has comparatively small revenues. When these are eliminated from the calculations the constructive tax rate on the remainder of the short line group rises from $.699 to $1.044.

Even if no change whatever were made in the tax rate on short line steam railroads, the additional net revenue accruing to the state after other adjustments had been made would exceed $5,000,000 each year of the ensuing biennium.

VARIATION WITHIN CLASSES

There is variation in the burdens of individual taxpayers in the different classes of utilities subject to gross receipts taxation. However, we do not regard this circumstance as significant of the conclusion that there are greater inequalities in this method of taxation than in others employed in California. By comparative analysis of the ratio of individual parcels of nonoperative property in the respective taxing districts in the state, we find that, save for a few exceptional cases, the burden of their ad valorem taxation varies almost as widely from the average as does the burden of individual utilities. (See Table 4 on page 38, post.)

It is submitted that these variations are not to be considered indicative of any fundamental weakness either in the theory or administration of the methods of taxation employed. There will always be inequalities so long as more or less rigid rules must be prescribed and so long as the administration of taxation is subject to human factors. Absolute equality of taxation is impossible of attainment. Therefore, we find no cause for grave concern in such variations as have been disclosed between individual tax burdens.

TABULATED STATEMENTS

On the following pages we append tables showing in self-explanatory detail the data from which the conclusions in this report have been deduced.

*The average tax burden computed for short line railroads is materially lower than what should be regarded as actually a representative figure. Two companies of this class, viz., San Diego and Arizona Railway and Yosemite Valley Railroad Company, have operative property which is valued at large amounts, while each line has comparatively small revenues. If these two companies are eliminated from the calculations, the constructive tax rate on the remainder of the short line group rises from $0.699 to $1.044. Should the latter be used as the average tax burden, there would be only six companies whose burden would exceed the average by more than 100%.

EXPLANATION

The properties listed above under the heading "non-operative" represent all of those within certain taxing districts for which we have obtained appraisement data to determine average tax burden. Thus, those in the column for "A" county are all of the parcels outside of city limits in that county which were appraised for the purpose of compiling tables appended to our Special Report on Relative Tax Burdens made pursuant to section 3664e of the Political Code. To avoid any suggestion of individual criticism the counties have not been named. It may be observed that conditions in these counties are fairly representative of those elsewhere. The selections were made from various parts of the state, of both "inside" and "outside" properties.

The properties listed above under the heading "operative" represent practically all of the property subject to the burden of the gross receipts taxation within their respective classes. Thus, we have included the properties of all utilities filing reports for which summaries are given in our Special Report on Utility Values, with the exception of a few small operations the conditions of which are extraordinary. In no case would the taxes on these excluded operations exceed 1% of the total tax on the particular class of utility.
